MASSIE TO ADMIT KILLING HAWAIIAN AND WILL RELY ON INSANITY DEFENSE

Attorney Indicates Course in Questioning Husband of Assault Victim Who Says Attack Still Preys on His Mind.

DARROW ILL, TRIAL DELAYED

Chief Counsel for Lieutenant and Four Others Accused of Murder Is Suffering From Indigestion and Gets Postponement.

By the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, April 15.—It appeared certain today that Lieut. James H. Massie would name himself as the killer of Joseph Kahahawai and plead insanity in the murder trial of the young navy officer and three others.

Resumption of the trial of Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three navy men accused of killing Kahahawai was delayed until tomorrow, however, when George S. Llesure, defense attorney, announced today that Clarence Darrow, head of the defense, had become ill with an attack of indigestion.

As the prosecution closed its case yesterday, Darrow, chief defense counsel, called Massie to the stand and said one of the defendants would admit shooting Kahahawai in a fit of insanity. By his questioning, he indicated Massie would be the one.

Fight on Attack Testimony.

A fight seemed likely over the admissibility of testimony bearing on the attack on Mrs. Massie. Prosecutor Kelley announced he would insist the defense tell the jury before it proceeds further just who will claim insanity as a defense for the slaying.

With his mother-in-law and co-defendant, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, wept, Massie testified that his wife, Mrs. Thalia Massie, had identified the young Hawaiian and three others as her attackers. The result, he said, had preyed not only on her mind but also on his. Also he disclosed that it had been necessary for Mrs. Massie, suffering from fractures of the jaw, to undergo an operation after the attack to avoid becoming a mother.

Massie, his mother-in-law and co-defendant, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, wept, Massie testified that his wife, Mrs. Thalia Massie, had identified the young Hawaiian and three others as her attackers. The result, he said, had preyed not only on her mind but also on his. Also he disclosed that it had been necessary for Mrs. Massie, suffering from fractures of the jaw, to undergo an operation after the attack to avoid becoming a mother.

Massie was pale and obviously under a strain as he testified. Most of the time he kept his gaze fixed on the floor.

Lieut. Massie's Testimony.

Massie testified he was 27 years old and was married when he was 22 and Mrs. Massie 16. He told of attending a dance in an outlying town on the night of Sept. 12, when Mrs. Massie was attacked after going for a walk in a nearby thicket.

"Was there any drinking?" asked Darrow. "Yes, sir," Massie answered.

"Did Mrs. Massie care for drink?" "No."

The Lieutenant said he missed Mrs. Massie when their party was preparing to go home and did not find her until after he had telephoned several friends and finally rang his own house.

"Mrs. Massie answered the phone," he said, "and, recognizing my voice, said 'Come home at once; something terrible has happened.'

I jumped in a car and rushed home. I could hear her sobbing before I could get into the house. She collapsed in my arms. Her eyes were bruised, her face swollen, her clothes torn and her lips bleeding."

"I thought a truck had run over her," she said. "It was too horrible to tell and could only sob."

"She said, she wanted to die. Finally she told me some men had taken her in a car and carried her into the bushes and ravished her. I called the police and told them my wife had been assaulted."

Mrs. Fortescue was crying. Massie said he took his wife to a hospital and tried in vain to sleep. She said she left the inn to go for a walk to Fort de Russy." the witness related. "It is about a quarter of a mile. As she walked

JOBLESS RENEW FIGHT WITH POLICE IN NEW ZEALAND

Disturbers With Sticks, Stones and Fists Resist Landing Party From Warship.

By the Associated Press.

PLYMOUTH, New Zealand, April 15.—Fighting broke out in the streets again tonight and for three hours crowds of jobless men and women who rioted all day yesterday held their own against police volunteer reinforcements and a landing party from a British cruiser.

Mounted men charged the rioters and police on foot in close formation with clubs, were beaten back by the jobless who fought with clubs, stones and fists.

During the melee fire broke out in the Church of the Epiphany and the building was badly damaged. Police said the fire was started by the rioters.

At least 20 persons were injured, some of them seriously.

The Mayor, who marshaled civilian volunteers to assist the police yesterday, said tonight that if the fighting continued he would read the riot act.

New South Wales War Veterans Organize to Back Premier Lang.

By the Associated Press.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 15.—An army of 25,000 war veterans ready to fight for Premier Lang if called upon to do so, is being organized by the Trades Hall Labor Council, officials of that organization announced.

This, they said, would be a nucleus of 100,000 volunteers from the trades unions, "all with working class views."

Presumably the movement had its origin in the dispute between the Government of New South Wales and the Commonwealth Government over the default in the province's foreign debts. Under the new financial agreement act the Commonwealth moved to seize the provincial income tax, for the default. Premier Lang locked up the files. Then the Commonwealth levied on the entertainment tax. The Premier ordered the taxpayers to ignore the Commonwealth Government's demand and said he would appeal a high court decision upholding the financial agreement.

Electricity to Displace Oil Lamps in Coolidge Home

Improvements Include Building of Addition to House at Plymouth, Vt.

By the Associated Press.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., April 15.—The kerosene lamps which illuminated the old Coolidge homestead nine years ago when Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office as President will soon be supplanted by electric lights. Workmen today began the task of wiring the century-old farm house, preparatory to installation of a small electric power plant.

The former President is continuing the repairs and improvements begun last year, indicating that he and Mrs. Coolidge plan to extend their annual summer visits. A large ell, containing two bedrooms, bathroom and a library will be built.

"Mrs. Coolidge answered the phone," he said, "and, recognizing my voice, said 'Come home at once; something terrible has happened.'

WHITNEY WARNS TAXING DEALS MAY CLOSE EXCHANGE

President of Stock Market Before Senate Committee
Also Hints It May Move

TYDINGS ASSAILED TARIFF ON OIL

Spokesman for Petroleum Industry Attacks Plan to Make It Pay 'Third of Deficit.'

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—More protests from more people who object to paying more taxes, were heard today by the weary Senate Finance Committee, which is trying to draft a revenue bill that will balance the Federal budget.

An intimation that the proposed tax of 3% of 1 per cent on stock sales might result in the closing of the New York Stock Exchange came from its president, Richard Whitney. He also uttered a veiled threat that the exchange might move to Canada to avoid payment of the tax. He sketched a desolate picture of deserted exchanges, frozen bankers' loans and general business stagnation resulting from such a tax.

Shortly afterward the committee was told by another witness that the oil industry is "broke," that it is producing oil at a loss of 40 cents a barrel, and that the proposed taxes on gasoline, lubricating oil and pipe lines would plunge many companies into bankruptcy.

Bitter Protest From Oil.

C. B. Ames, appearing for the American Petroleum Institute, protested bitterly against the proposed taxes. He said Congress and the Treasury are proposing to make the oil industry contribute nearly one-third of the amount required to balance the Treasury deficit. The industry is overburdened with taxes, he declared.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that if you had a consolidated statement of the earnings of all the oil producing companies for 1931, it would show a large loss. The situation is that the big companies know they are broke, but the independents don't know they are broke but the bankers know it."

The bill as it stands would provide for a tax on pipe lines and lubricating oil, while the gasoline tax has been merely recommended by the Treasury, and is not in the bill.

Ames urged, as a substitute for the proposed oil and gasoline taxes, a general tax of 1 per cent on all manufactured commodities, including food and clothing. He said it would yield $500,000,000 a year.

"We would cheerfully pay our share of that tax, and we wouldn't pass it on to the consumer," he said. "I don't believe many manufacturers would pass it on."

When Ames offered a quotation from Successful Farming, Senator Gore of Oklahoma asked:

"What is that—a work of fiction?"

The rates in the bill as passed by the House, he said, are "grossly excessive." Whitney said the present tax would be multiplied 13 times by the new rates and would not greatly reduce the volume of trading as to produce less revenue than it now received from the stamp tax. The rate now is two cents a share.

Danger in Closing.

Emphasizing the function of the Stock Exchange in keeping securities liquid, Whitney said that if in recent months the exchange had been forced to close, "all collateral loans would have become frozen with great peril to the entire banking structure of the country."

Whitney asserted the proposed tax would greatly interfere with business recovery. He explained that "a step toward reconstruction" must be reorganization of business, which will not be effected and that a heavy tax on the transfers of stock which would be necessary would impose a great obstacle.

Whitney attributed the recent market decline in part to the action of the House in voting the stock transfer tax.

Belabors Bond Tax, Too.

The exchange president be-laboring the proposed tax on bond trading as vigorously as that on stocks. "It is indefensible when the bond market is so disrupted," he asserted. "There is nothing else."

on the new tax bill.

which would be more destructive to recovery."

Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, said he had heard a rumor that "since the House action a 'charter had been taken out in Montreal' for an international stock trading association and asked Whitehead about it."

Whitehead said he knew nothing definite, but had heard a rumor that negotiations were being made in Canada to "broaden their facilities to take the American business in this tax goes through."

Links Decline and Tax.

Whitehead expressed the opinion that the decline in stock exchange trading in March was "directly due to an increase in the New York Stock transfer tax which became effective March 1."

"If so," he added, "the proposed Federal tax would reduce security transactions almost to the vanishing point."

Questioned by Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, Whitney said:
"I contend the effect of this tax would be to freeze our markets and make them illiquid and inactive."

He argued that as buying and selling securities became less popular in the face of the heavier rate, the investor would find it correspondingly more difficult to get his money readily if he found it necessary to liquidate.

Even boosting the present rate from 2 to 4 cents a share and eliminating the proposed levy of 3/4 per cent of value, Whitney said,
"might be very detrimental."

Whitney also opposed the proposed tax on leased telephone and telegraph wires, asserting it might result in abandonment of many of the lines used in the security business.

Bootlegging of Stocks.

"A destructive tax on securities would be a long step toward a further continued deflation," Whitney said.

Besides affecting the individual investor, he said the "illiquidity" which would prevent "American business from securing loans on securities."

The tax, he said, would not be "jacked by brokers but by the 20,000, 000 Americans who own securities."

In answer to Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, Whitney said he believed the tax would lead to "bootlegging of stocks" through "bucketshops."

A few moments later two men ran out of the lot and walked south on Alton street. It was dark and I soon lost sight of them. I did not see any other car."

A few minutes later policemen entered the breach in the rusty fence and stumbled over a door from the Lincoln, so heavy with armor and bullet-proof glass that one of them who tried to move it had to give up the effort.

Twenty-five feet beyond stood the Lincoln and beside it lay Hutcheson. His legs pulled up under him. His hairless head, snowy with premature white hair, first led the policemen to believe they had come upon the murder of an elderly man, but an examination of his face and sturdy form quickly showed them that a young man had been slain.

Probably Shot at Curb.

The driver's door of the sedan was open, the steering wheel smashed by a bullet. On the front seat lay a .45 caliber automatic pistol, presumably Hayes'. It had not been fired. The floor and dash below the instrument board were scarred by bullets, which the policemen assumed were fired from the back seat.

Flecks of blood on the seat and floor, considered in conjunction with Polos' account, indicated that Hayes' assassin shot him at the curb, then drove the car into the lot, threw, or allowed him to fall.

SAVES WIFE AND 3 CHILDREN IN 75-YARD SWIM TO SHORE

Arkansan and Family Leave Team Trapped in QuickSand of River Near Mundell.

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., April 15.—When his team was trapped in quicksand and drowned, George Morrison, 73, yards in White River with his wife and three children. The accident occurred in crossing Knox ferry, near Mundell.

When the wagon sank, Morrison took his wife by one arm, his little girl climbed on his back, one boy held to his leg and the other to his mother, and Morrison landed the group safely.

Hayes' home on Bermuda avenue, Normandy, or to the home of his mother. The funeral will probably be held Monday morning.

"Willie G.'s" body was taken to the Roberts' undertaking establishment, 1905 South Grand boulevard. Lecher's body was unclaimed this afternoon at Coroner Mercer's funeral establishment in Madison.

Verdict of Homicide.

An open verdict of homicide at the hands of persons unknown was returned at the inquest into the death of Lecher and Willie G.

The bill of sale found in the roadster, dated yesterday, was made out to John Kelly, 2510 Clifford Avenue. The Illinois license plates on the machine, issued for a Cadillac, were taken in the name of "Thomas Fleming," frequently used by Hayes.

Another pistol, a .32 caliber automatic, was found in Hayes' automobile at 10 o'clock this morning, after the machine had caught fire unaccountably while standing in the Madison fire department house.
Firemen who extinguished the blaze found the pistol behind the cushions of the front seat.

For weeks the police had known that Hayes, already an active enemy of the Cuckoo gang, also had incurred the displeasure of the Shelton brothers, and had been ordered to leave the East St. Louis.

His fight with the Cuckoo gang had carried on with a machine-gang fight at a whisky still 2½ miles south of East St. Louis. They had been warned by the Shelton gang, with which Hayes then had a working affiliation, to get out of that territory. While it could not be proved that Hayes had a hand in those killings, St. Louis police and two gangsters in gambling clubs in St. Louis conducted by "Wide Open" Smith, again brought Hayes before the East Side police.
He and Carl Shelton were questioned at length in this connection, but for the want of evidence were released.

APPEAL PLANNED IN CONTEST FOR BORDLEY ESTATE

Will of Tobacco Millionaire's Widow Set Aside by Verdict in Favor of Collateral Heirs.

LAWYERS AGREE TO 'REASONABLE' FEE

Decision Based on Alleged Undue Influence by Bank in Drafting Testament, Juror Says.

In setting aside the will of Mrs. Blanche Bordley yesterday, a jury in Circuit Judge Rutledge's court ruled that her $1,000,000 estate should go to a group of collateral heirs, as opposed to the disposition in the will, which set aside the bulk of the estate as a trust fund for chronic invalids.

The heirs-at-law are Mrs. Bordley's 58-year-old sister, Mrs. Adele Lynch Tatum of Los Angeles, Calif., who filed the suit to break the will; Mrs. Adele Donovan Chambers of Los Angeles, daughter or a deceased sister of Mrs. Bordley, and the heirs—two daughters and a son—of a deceased half-sister of Mrs. Bordley.

In such a distribution Mrs. Tatum would receive two-fifths of the estate, according to law; Mrs. Chan, one two-fifths and one-fifth would be divided by the three other heirs, one of whom is Mrs. Albert Chandler, 22, West Washington and Kirkwood.

Court to Fix Fee.

Mrs. Tatum's attorneys, who are the St. Louis firm of Forstel, Muad, Blair & Habenicht and the Kansas City firm of Harding, Murphy & Tucker, have a contract to get 50 per cent of anything she may realize by the will contest. With indications that their fee would be in excess of $200,000 by the contract, Edward W. Forstel of the St. Louis firm, who personally directed the suit, announced the attorneys would seek only a "reasonable amount" to be determined by any Circuit Judge.

One of Mrs. Tatum's five sons, Clifford Tatum, has a contract to get 50 per cent of her estate at her death, according to testimony in the case, but it has been explained that such a provision was made in the interest of an invalid daughter and a dependent son.

Odds With Brother.

Clifford Tatum, who did not testify, was closely allied with his mother's attorneys as was his brother, Robert, who came to St. Louis with power of attorney to settle the case in advance of trial but allied himself with Clifford. Two other brothers, J. Warren Tatum and Frank D. Tatum, were witnesses for the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. and various beneficiaries. Warren Tatum, son of Mrs. Bordley, was a $10,000 beneficiary under the will whereas his brothers received only $500 each. Frank D. Tatum admitted being at odds with his brothers for a number of years.

Both Warren and Frank denied their mother believed Mrs. Bordley a sufferer from delusional insanity, as was charged in the suit, but testified that she wished, to stop the contest. Mrs. Tatum received only a $20,000 fund under the will.

Basis of Decision.

The jury foreman, George H. Jaronick, 48, San Francisco avenue, said the jury based its decision on the charge of undue influence by the Mercantile-Commerce Bank in drafting the will, rather than on the charge of unsound mind. The plaintiff's attorneys attempted to show that Mrs. Bordley, an elderly widow, believed herself to be a reincarnation of Mary, Queen of Scots.

Jaronick said that "at least a hung jury" would have resulted if the suit had been based on the insanity charge alone. The plaintiff's attorneys showed that the will was prepared under the direction of an officer of the bank and witnessed by bank employees.

On one jury, Herman Ficker, 249 South Eleventh street, disagreed from the verdict. A record in jury records was made of the body, according to court attaches. The trial lasted 28 days and all but four of the jurors were credited with previous service, having been held over under a policy of the court which allows unemployed men to continue on the jury panel. Jaronick was credited with 47 days of service in the will contest and previous cases. Most of the jurors are unemployed.

Appeal to Be Taken.

The defendants will file a motion for a new trial, the first step preparatory to appeal, according to the announcement of Samuel A. Michel, president of the firm of Thompson, Michel & Young, which defended the suit. Defense counsel previously had pointed out that even if the present will, made in 1924, is set aside after appeal, it may be necessary for Mrs. Tatum to contest a previous will, made in 1924, which has been filed in Probate Court.

The 1924 will, which was read in evidence, had the same large bequest to charity, the bulk of the estate going to the Sisters of St. Mary, a Catholic order, for the treatment of crippled children.

SUIT ACCUSES HEAD OF ELECTRICAL UNION

New Yorkers Charge Nation-wide Conspiracy to Promote Insurance Scheme.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Charges that union officials and favored electrical contractors have fastened a nation-wide conspiracy upon the electrical business through an insurance scheme were made in Supreme Court today by 15 members of local 3, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who are seeking an accounting for $750,000 of union funds.

The charges were made before Supreme Court Justice Alfred Frankenthaler and alleged that the cost of the insurance scheme is passed on to the public to the extent of several million dollars annually.

The accounting action was filed by the Association of Gustave M. Bugnatz, secretary-treasurer of the Union Co-operative Insurance Association of Washington, which they charge is not authorized to do business in New York State; William F. Kelly, vice president, and Howell H. Broach of Washington, president of the International.

The plaintiffs charge Broach is an official of the Insurance Association and dictator of both that organization and the union.

The plaintiffs charge Broach has placed $20,000,000 worth of insurance with the Insurance Association by causing electrical contractors to pay $1.60 a day, for each union man employed, into an insurance fund, the expense of which is passed on to the employees of Mrs. Bordley, and amounts set aside for various charities in the 1924 were essentially those made in the 1928 will, which provided special gifts amounting to $25,000. Mrs. Tatum received only $15,000 in the 1924 will.

One of the plaintiffs, Herman Ficker, 249 South Eleventh street, disagreed from the verdict. A record in jury records was made of the body, according to court attaches. The trial lasted 28 days and all but four of the jurors were credited with previous service, having been held over under a policy of the court which allows unemployed men to continue on the jury panel. ## FRANK TIGHE SR., ONCE SOCCER STAR, SLAIN AS PROWLER

George C. Grimm, 3102 Easton Ave., Says He Fired When Man on Back Porch Failed to Answer.

Frank Tighe Sr., 56 years old, a former soccer football star, was shot and fatally wounded last night by George C. Grimm, 3102 Easton avenue, who fired at a prowler in the rear yard of his home. Tighe died at City Hospital early today of a wound in the back.

Tighe was found lying in a yard in the rear of an unoccupied house at 3100 Easton avenue at 10:30 o'clock by a policeman, who was called to the scene. At the hospital Tighe told police that he and another man, a chance acquaintance, were fired on as they were attempting to get into the unoccupied house, where they planned to sleep. Tighe, a painter, said he had no regular place of abode.

Grimm, 46, related that he was in his room on the second floor of his home when his mother, Mrs. Mary Grimm, 65, who was in bed in a rear room on the first floor, screamed. Raising a shotgun, Grimm related that he saw a man on the first floor porch. He claimed to the man, but received no answer. He then seized his shotgun and fired at the man on the porch. The man climbed a fence and escaped in the adjoining yard.

Mrs. Grimm corroborated her son's account of the shooting. She said she was awakened by a noise at her window and, on seeing the form of a man, screamed. Tighe is described by veteran soccer players as one of the greatest of the early players in St. Louis. He played in the forward line of the old St. Theresa club, a team which defeated the Cycling Club for the city championship about 25 years ago.

An inquest will be held tomorrow. A son, Frank Tighe Jr., 446 Kenneth place, claimed the body at the Morgue.

DARROW TAKEN ILL, HAWAIIAN MURDER TRIAL POSTPONED

Along the road a car came up from behind and two men grabbed her. She said she told them her husband would give them money if they would let her go. They only beat her.

"They drove into the bushes and she told me what they did." Her voice faltered.

"Go on," I said.

Sau Kahahawai Broke Her Jaw.

"She said," the witness continued, "that Kahahawai beat her more than any other and that when he assaulted her she prayed for mercy and he hit her and broke her jaw."

He told how four men had been brought before Mrs. Massie the next day for identification. They were Kahahawai, Horace Ida, Henry Chang and Boi Ahakeulo.

"She questioned them all," Massie said. "She seemed to concentrate on Kahahawai. After they left she told me they were the ones. I asked her if she was sure and she said, 'Darling, do you think I would have another honest breath unless I were sure?'

The witness said Mrs. Massie had awakened him on one occasion thereafter with the cry, "Don't let him get me!"

Massie said he had assured her

CONSUL HAS NO REPORT ON MEXICAN KIDNAPING

Investigation Sought After Oklahoma man in Letter Asked Aid in Paying Ransom.

By the Associated Press.

IDABEL, Ok., April 15.—The United States Consul at Juarez yesterday telephoned District Judge George T. Arnett of Idabel that he had no information that Clyde Messer of Hugo, Ok., was being held in that section of Mexico by bandits for $1000 ransom.

Judge Arnett had asked for an investigation by the Consul, and by officers at El Paso, Tex., and Douglas, Ok., of reports that Messer, former railroad employee, had been kidnapped either at El Paso or Douglas, and was being held in Mexico. Lester Woods, friend of Messer, in a letter written at Douglas, appealed to former Gov. W. J. Holloway to obtain $600, asserting he could raise $400 of the reported ransom. Holloway sent the letter to Messer's father at Hugo, who asked Judge Arnett to investigate.

no one else was there but that she had insisted:

"Yes, there is! Kahahawai is here!"

He said on one of several occasions when Mrs. Massie had called him, saying she heard footsteps about the house he heard such sounds himself. He said he ran out but saw no one.

"I couldn't seem to get it out of my mind," Massie said.

"Did you ever get it out of your mind?" Darrow queried.

"No," he said.

MAN WITH $1700 REPORTED MISSING; HIS AUTO FOUND

Car of J. O. Powell, Windsor, Mo., Bearing Marks of Struggle Discovered in Kansas City.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 15.—A blood-stained automobile, identified by police as that of John O. Powell, 31 years old, Windsor, Mo., business man, who disappeared yesterday after leaving Springfield with $1700, was found here today, parked in front of 920 Grand avenue.

A soft gray hat, which also bore blood stains and was marked with the letters "J. P." was found on the floor of the car. A hole in the hat, police think, was made by a bullet.

The rear and side windows of the car had been broken. Empty money wrappers were scattered about the floor. Several of Powell's clothes were found.

Police think Powell was held up after he left Springfield at 5 p.m. yesterday, robbed and either killed or hidden.

Fragments of Powell's watch chain were found on the floor of his car and a silver Elgin watch forced behind the rear seat.

W. G. Davis of Windsor, Powell's attorney said the missing man's trip to Springfield was made in connection with a business transaction to his poultry firm and that he had obtained there the money he was carrying.

Detective Sergeant Tom Higgins said the evidence indicated Powell was held up and robbed elsewhere and the automobile was driven here and abandoned after he had been disposed of.

INQUIRY IS BEGUN INTO EXPLOSION THAT KILLED 8

Officials Suspect Sabotage in Blast in $6,000,000 State Office Building at Columbus, O.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—Experts in high explosives were summoned today to investigate the explosion which yesterday wrecked the interior of Ohio's new $6,000,- 000 office building, killing eight persons and injuring many.

The explosion demolished the central interior part of the building from the basement to the eleventh floor, and tore away most of one side of the structure.

Workmen are digging in the debris searching for additional dead or injured.

At first the explosion was laid to accumulated sewer gas in the basement. Later, however, officials including T. S. Brindle, State Superintendent of Public Works, said they thought high explosives were the cause, and that it was an act of sabotage.

H. E. Nold, head of the department of mines at Ohio State University, said: "It would have been impossible for enough gas for such an explosion to collect in the building without being detected."

The theft of 300 pounds of dynamite last week from a power storehouse of the Hercules company near London, O., is under investigation. The experts think it may have been used to blow up the State office building.

Larry Keene, an official of the powder company, said 100 pounds of the explosive contained 16 quarts of T. N. T.

He pointed out that about 80 per cent of the T. N. T. could be extracted from the sticks by one familiar with the handling of dynamite. Keene said test showed about 100 pounds of the dynamite would have been sufficient to cause the damage done by the explosion.

Investigators Appointed.

Gov. White today named an investigating committee of four and called an expert in explosives from the du Pont company from Chicago to aid the investigators.

Albert Smith, city fireman, informed police that a few minutes after the explosion a man ran around the north side of the structure, threw a brick through the window of an unoccupied parked automobile and disappeared. Police are searching for the brick thrower.

Investigators point out that the focal point of the explosion appears to have been immediately beneath a room occupied by Charles Martin, superintendent of construction for Harry F. Hake, of Cincinnati, architect. Martin's duties included the handling of labor disputes.

Labor Disputes Frequent.

During construction of the building, which consumed almost two years, labor disputes were frequent.

There were 126 men at work inside the building when the explosion occurred.

Great slabs of marble were tossed into the air, ponderous metal doors were wrenches from their hinges and tons of concrete and twisted steel were knocked loose by the force of the blast.

Survivors said the explosion tore upward and outward, lifting into the air a section of the west wall 25 feet high and 200 feet long.

List of the Dead.

The dead were: W. B. Ryer, 57, superintendent of the Alabama Marble Co.; Daniel E. Chesney, 40, decorator for the Rambush Co., New York; William Bokken, 42, Detroit, Mich., bronze worker; Odele Neal, 27, Columbus electrician; Frank Baker, Columbus plumber; C. P. Carter, 30, Nashville, Tenn.; William Stevenson, 42, Columbus, died today.

The body of the eighth man, Robert Pfefferle of Columbus, a carpenter, was taken from the basement today.

The building, situated on the western edge of the business district, is 360 feet long, 80 feet wide and 13 stories high, with walls of white Georgia marble. Dedication ceremonies had been set tentatively for May.

State officials estimated the damage to the structure was over $1,- 000,000 and said they thought the State was protected by a $2,000,000 bond given by the Struck Construction Co. of Cincinnati, general contractors, and a $400,000 insurance policy of the architect.

ON CHARGES OF MURDER

Mrs. Emma Leonard Rearrested for Killing of James McCarthy.

Mrs. Emma Leonard, 2716 North Garrison avenue, and John Basel of 1825 North Eighth street, were rearrested today after murder indictments were returned against them yesterday.

Mrs. Leonard was indicted for the shooting of James McCarthy, soccer player and manager, in a quarrel March 19 over her arrest three days earlier with a former convict.

The indictment against Basel is for the murder March 23 of Joseph Bianco, 48, of 2508 St. Louis avenue. Police reported at the time that Basel became alarmed at the approach of Bianco and Joseph Daleo, with whom he had quarreled, and killed Bianco and wounded Daleo. Bianco was said to have known nothing of their quarrel.

INSULL ONE OF 3 RECEIVERS FOR BIG HOLDING COMPANY

Judge Lindley Appoints Utility Magnate, Eduard
N. Hurley and Charles A.
McCulloch.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 15.—Samuel Insull, utility operator; Edward N. Hurley, war-time chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, and Charles McCulloch, taxicab official, today were appointed receivers of the Middle West Utilities Co., of which Insull is chairman of the board. Federal Judge Walter C.
Lindley set their bonds as receivers at $100,000 each.

The recommendation was made by Attorney Thurlow G. Essington, counsel for the Lincoln Printing Co., which instituted the equity proceedings late yesterday.

Insull is chairman of the board of directors of the Middle West Utilities Co. Asked by the court why he recommended Insull's appointment, Attorney Essington replied "because he is the outstanding utility operator of the country and his knowledge and familiarity with the affairs of the company are absolutely necessary."

Essington began the hearing by reading from the bill of complaint, which alleges that the company is unable to meet its obligations because of the greatly depreciated value of the securities it holds. The filing of the equity petition was the only possible constructive relief for both stockholders and creditors of the company, as well as the company itself, the attorney argued, because the appointment of receivers would prevent the filing of a multiplicity of suits and the disintegration of the company.

Attorney William L. Latimer, counsel for the Middle West Utilities Co., filed a brief in answer admitting the allegations in the bill of complaint and consenting to the appointment of a receiver.

Another attorney, W. A. Leopold, said he represented the holder of 100 shares of stock and objected to the appointment of a receiver. He said the move was being made on behalf of a few banks "who are trying to freeze out the stockholders."

"I will fill in the names of the receivers in the blank provided in the order," Judge Lindley said after overruling Leopold's objections.
"Meanwhile there will be the usual restraining order adjoining the officers from disposing of the assets of the company and also enjoining creditors from instituting judgments."

Before Federal Judge James H.
Wilkinson, another action was started by counsel for three holders of $100 notes of Middle West, part of the $10,000,000 issue coming due June 1. The new petition alleged insolvency and asked that Middle West be declared bankrupt.

Insull announced earlier yesterday the troubles of the Middle West Utilities in no manner concerned such operating subsidiaries as Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas and Public Service of Northern Illinois and the response was an upward spurt of securities of those concerns on the Chicago Exchange.

Inability to Finance.

"Receivership is the result of the company's inability to finance its obligations. Economic conditions make it impossible to work out a plan for the payment of about $23,000,000 in well secured bank loans, slightly over $7,000,- 000 in partially secured loans, and meeting of a maturity of $10,- 000,000 in notes on June 1.

"With the company's assets conserved through protection of the Federal Court, the reorganization plans will be developed as rapidly as economic conditions permit."

Interests in 30 States.

The Middle West controls a group of Insull operating companies serving 4500 communities in Canada and 30 Central, Southwestern and Eastern states. The properties of those companies include 410 manufacturing plants, gas mains 4897 miles long, electric transmission lines extending 59,689 miles.

The Michigan Gas and Electric Co., part of the Middle West Utilities System, reported today that 1931 gross earnings were $1,586,-
642. This compared with $1,451,- 736 in 1930. The amount available for 1932 dividends was $257,098, against $276,476 the year previous.

HEAD OF FARMERS'
UNION INDORSES
CASH BONUS BILLDeclares He Is 100 Pct. Behind Legislation for Payment of $2,000,000,000 to Veterans.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 15.—The two-billion-dollar cash payment of the soldiers' bonus was endorsed today by John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union.While awaiting his turn to testify before the House Ways and Means Committee, Simpson told newspaper men he was 100 per cent behind the bonus payment.At that moment Representative Condon (Dem.), Rhode Island, was telling the committee that the American Legion "dodged" the bonus issue and that the great majority of the rank and file of the Legion were behind the payment.Use of a beer tax to raise the fund for cashing the bonus was advocated by Representative Cochran (Dem.), Missouri. Cochran's statement was brief and simply urged consideration of his bill to accomplish this.Simpson then was called. As he testified, uninvited and uninvited struck about the committee room.Yesterday they were called by Acting Chairman Crisp to maintain order when a delegation demanded a hearing out of regular order.

Testimony Applauded.

"This country needs a new crop of money," Simpson said. "This bill provides one of the best crops of money we could have because the bankers could not control it."Simpson was the first of the National Farmers leaders to endorse the bonus payment."I don't care if it means making those who made money while the boys were in France pay taxes to pay our debts," he said. "The Farmers' Union is for it."

Simpson was loudly applauded.

Representative Withrow (Rep.),

Wisconsin,

contended that the Government
"doles out a bonus to the railroads for wilful misconduct and now quibbles about this payment to the soldiers. It is inconsistent to give one group a spoon and the other a mitten."Success in obtaining a House vote on the cash payment issue now is virtually certain, even the Democratic leaders being disposed to concede that their opposition will be unavailing.They are not yet ready to admit that the House will pass a bill, but are making no definite claims about being able to defeat the measure.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, the floor leader of the Democratic majority forces, said of the bonus sponsors' claims of enough votes:

"Maybe they have them, but I believe the opponents are making headway."Failure of the bonus advocates to agree so far among themselveson the means by which the enormous sum is to be raised, has lent some uncertainty to the proceedings.

Normal, the committee

holding hearings on legislation works out a bill from the numerous proposals submitted, but the prospect is that the Ways and Means Committee will reject the bonus and its sponsors will have to resort to a petition to force action on one of the bills in the House, amending it, if necessary, on the floor.War heroes. "My stand on the bonus is well known," York's message said. "I favor its immediate payment now."

Representative Bankhead of Alabama, one of the House Democratic chieftains, told newspaper men today he will support cash payment of the soldiers bonus "if he reaches the floor of the House."

CIRCUS MAN ESCAPES
IN FIGHT WITH PYTHONSerpent, While Being Carried into Arena, Coils About Acrobat.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 15.—A 25-foot python injured two performers at Ringling Brothers Barnum &amp; Bailey circus here yesterday.

While being borne into the arena the serpent wrenched away from a file of troupers, wrapped its heavy coils around the body of Luigi Canestrelly, acrobat, and sank its fangs into his bare right arm.

While the acrobat and reptile struggled 20 fellow troupers rushed into the ring and pried the python loose before it could crush its victim to death. In the fight the serpent lost one coil on Canestrelly and snapped the finger of Alfred Cardona, aerialist.

The performers were taken to the circus hospital, where Canestrelly was given an anti-tetanus injection as a precaution, though the bite of a python is not poisonous.

The serpent finally was locked in its cage.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 15.—Three convicts who escaped from the Monroe Reformatory last Saturday night were captured last night in a shack near Auburn.

AMERICAN WOMAN
MISSIONARY SLAINKilled in Apartment in Warsaw, Poland—Religious Fanatics Suspected.

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, Poland, April 15.—The body of Edna Drall Mott, an American Baptist missionary, was found in her apartment here today with her throat cut. Police suspect she was killed by religious fanatics.

She came to Warsaw a year ago and conducted mission work in a slum district.

Six weeks ago two children in the neighborhood were found similarly murdered, but police were unable to find any trace of the slayers.

Gen. Chan-Shan Breaks with New Manchurian Government.

By the Associated Press.

HARBIN, Manchuria, April 15.—Chinese reports said tonight that Gen. Ma Chan-Shan, having severed relations with the new Manchurian government, had established military headquarters at Tientsin, across the Amur River from Blagoveshchensk, and was preparing for a campaign against the Japanese.

The performer was taken to the circus hospital, where Canestrelly was given an anti-tetanus injection as a precaution, though the bite of a python is not poisonous.

The serpent finally was locked in its cage.

Than Had Been Anticipated.

Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment appropriated $265,470 to its affiliated relief agencies during March, $82,470 more than the committee estimated would be required in that month in a statement issued just before the Crisis Campaign began. Participating relief agencies are reimbursed by the committee for expenditures in excess of their own resources.

Business conditions caused the increase, it was said by Tom K. Smith, chairman of the committee. "Instead of gradual improvement in employment which everyone thought would occur in the spring, matters have grown steadily worse," Smith said.

"About Jan. 1 the case load of agencies through which the committee operates was approximately 15,000 families. By February it had gone to 25,000 families. No one in January thought the relief load would grow by leaps and bounds. We thought by March or April we would be at least holding our own."

In addition to caring for thousands of new families, Smith said, the committee's burden has been increased by the greater cost of caring for those who were already receiving relief. Some families who were receiving partial help from relatives or friends, he said, can no longer look to those sources for assistance, and in many cases dwindling savings have been completely exhausted.

Despite the increase in the work of relief agencies, Smith said, the city is still escaping the need of caring for a large transient population. It was feared, he said, after the success of the Crisis Campaign that the agencies would be overrun with that class of people.

In January, Smith said, only 4 per cent of the number of families being helped were transients, and in March, 2.5 per cent. Transients, he added, are cared for only until arrangements can be made to return them to their own homes.

GETS $1801 COUNTER-CLAIM IN SUIT OVER STOCK DEAL

Polite Elvins Wins Verdict in Litigation With Oliver J. Anderson & Co.

Polite E. Elvins, an attorney, was awarded a verdict of $1801 at Clayton yesterday on a counter-claim against the administrators of the estate of the co-partnership of Oliver J. Anderson & Co., brokers.

The suit was based on a stock transaction arranged over the telephone in 1928. The company, which sued Elvins originally for $40,429, contended it sold 1000 shares of lead company stock for him at $50 a share, but that he failed to deliver it for transfer, forcing the company to buy later 1000 shares in the open market at $89.50 a share.

In his counter-claim, Elvins admitted ordering the sale, but said he ordered the repurchase of another 1000 shares with him to cover the sale. The stock could have been purchased at that time without a loss, he maintained, but the company failed to do so, placing its order at $89.50 a share more than two months later.

DEARMONT ENDORSED
IN THIRTEENTH WARDAll but Two of 39 Democratic Precinct Committeemen Support Him.

The candidacy of State Senator Russell L. Dearmont of Cape Girardeau for the Democratic nomination for Governor was formally endorsed last night at a meeting of the precinct organization of the Thirteenth Ward at 4229 Gravois avenue. This is the ninth ward in which Dearmont has either been endorsed by the precinct organization or by the ward committeeman.

At the meeting last night 37 of the 39 precinct committeemen voted in favor of Dearmont, the other two, supporters of Francis M. Wilson, Dearmont's opponent, voting against it.

In addition to the action on Dearmont, the organization adopted a resolution demanding modification of the Volstead act and repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It also endorsed for re-election James H. Stewart, the ward committeeman, and Mrs. Clara Smith, the committeewoman.

Stewart, in supporting Dearmont's endorsement, told the ward workers that he had carefully canvassed the political situation, and it was his opinion that Dearmont's strength outside of St. Louis made his nomination probable, and he thought Dearmont would make a stronger candidate in St. Louis in the election than his opponent.

Stewart said the nine wards in which Dearmont was supported by the Democratic organization cast 53,616 votes for the Democratic nominee for Governor in 1928, and that this total was 5000 of the total which would be cast in the Democratic primary this year in Kansas City, where the Pendergast organization is supporting Wilson. He urged the workers to active efforts to get out the vote tomorrow day the full strength in the ward, and said that if they got out a big vote he was confident Dearmont would carry St. Louis.

At a meeting of former Democratic judges and clerks of election in the Eleventh ward, where the organization endorsed Dearmont several weeks ago, a further endorsement was voted last night.

J. Wootley McAfee, supporting Dearmont, will speak tonight at a meeting of the Young Men's Democratic Club of the Twenty-second ward at 2840 North Euclid avenue.

STEPDAUGHTER GETS ESTATE

Inherits $200,000 From Capitalist Who Was Kidnapped.

By the Associated Press.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 15.—Mrs. Marie Moon Gibbons, Dayton, O., is sole beneficiary under the will of Frank J. Moon, aged retired capitalist, who died here last week. The estate is valued at $200,000. Mrs. Gibbons is a stepdaughter. A petition for probate, filed here yesterday, stated, however, that Harry L. Moon of Kalamazoo, a stepson, claims a $75,000 interest in the estate.

Moon was kidnapped last summer and forced to turn $93,000 in securities over to his abductors. The securities later were recovered and the kidnappers captured and convicted.

BUILDING TRADES
WAGE SCALE CUTS
EFFECTIVE TODAY

Reductions Agreed on by Joint Arbitration Committee Range From 8 to 17 Per Cent.

New wage scales, varying from 8 to 17 per cent below those formerly paid, became effective in the building industry here today.

An Arbitration Committee composed of contractors and union leaders announced that 17,000 of the 20,000 building mechanics voting on the proposal agreed to a reduction.
Dismissing votes were cast by the plasterers, and the pipe trades—plumbers, steamfitters and sprinkler fitters.

Union bricklayers, who are not members of the Building Trades Council, made a separate agreement with employers, reducing their wages $2 a day, to $12. The Arbitration Committee established $11.75 as the new daily wage of trades formerly receiving $14 a day. Thus, the bricklayers gain 25 cents a day by their separate agreement.

A statement issued by the Arbitration Committee describes the reduction as "a voluntary agreement for one year, reducing the cost of construction proportionately."

"This reduction," the statement continues, "placed the value of efforts of workmen in the building industry in commensurate with the value of efforts of workmen in other lines, and it is hoped that it will stimulate building construction and tend toward relieving unemployment."

The agreement to reduce wages resulted from a demand by organized contractors that the cost of labor be lowered 3 1/2 per cent.
The unions rejected this proposal, but agreed to arbitrate, with the results announced.

In their arguments for reduced wages, contractors stressed unemployment, which has been more than seasonal during the last 18 months. Estimates of the number of unemployed building trades workmen range up to 75 per cent of the union membership. Contractors also said that many union men were working for less than the prescribed wage rate, causing an unhealthy condition in the industry.

Union leaders replied that they were not aware of any voluntary wage reductions on the part of individuals.

The contractors also pointed out that wages of building mechanics had been reduced since Jan. 1 in other large cities, including New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Boston and Indianapolis.
They set forth that material and living costs have been lowered, and that wages in other industries had been cut, in some instances several times since the peak years of 1928-29.

Union leaders quoted the policy of maintaining wage levels, outlined by the American Federation of Labor, but agreed to "go along" in the hope of stimulating business and supplying work for more of their members. Part of the understanding is that, at the expiration of a year, new wage rates are to be established on a basis of general conditions prevailing at that time.

The table of new hourly and day

KIDNAPERS' HOUSE IS IDENTIFIED BY
PEORIA PHYSICIAN

Dr. J. W. Parker Recognizes It by Scrap of Paper He Tore From Wall During 18 Days' Captivity.

By the Associated Press
PEORIA, Ill., April 15.—With additional arrests increasing the total to 12, the police announced today that they had identified Ario Stoops, Cecil Menninger, Claude Evans and Dwight Bartlett as the actual kidnapers of Dr. James W. Parker, a wealthy physician and surgeon.

Dr. Parker, kidnaped last month, was released 18 days later, April 1, unharmed and without paying the $50,000 ransom demanded.

The day before this occurred, Joseph H. Purcell, an attorney, and James W. Betson, a contractor, both prominent in Peoria politics, were arrested and the police said they admitted acting as ransom agents for the kidnapers.

Assisted by Chicago's "Secret Six," Peoria police yesterday raided a farm house at Bremen, near Pekin, identified as the place where Dr. Parker had been held prisoner, and arrested five men and a woman, Raymond Stoops, the farmer, his wife, Bessie; his brother, Ario, and Raymond's son Dan Stoops; Cecil Menninger, 31 years old, a nephew of Betson, and Ed Woodford, a hired hand on the Stoops farm. Another woman, whose name is withheld, has also been arrested.

The windup of the case followed, police said, with the arrest of Homer Massey at Jacksonville, Ill., and Dwight Bartlett of East Peoria, Ill., at New Union.

The authorities said Ario Stoops and Menninger, accused Bartlett and Claude Evans of being the actual kidnapers, and said Mr. and Mrs. Stoops admitted Dr. Parker was held in their home.

A piece of wallpaper torn from a bedroom in the farmhouse by the police and its reported identification by Dr. Parker led to the arrests. Dr. Parker, police said, subsequently visited the house and identified it as the place of captivity.

None of the prisoners is known to have a police record. Bond of $50,000 was set for each.

PRISONER KILLS ANOTHER IN FIST FIGHT IN JAIL
James B. Ray, Held in Dyer Act Charge at Monroe, La., Is Victim.

By the Associated Press
MONROE, La., April 15.—James B. Ray, 26 years old, of St. Louis, held here on a Dyer act automobile theft charge, died from a fist blow in a fight with a fellow prisoner last night in the "bull pen" of the Ouachita Parish jail.

Sheriff Milton Cloverdale said Ray was struck by Lee Burris, a liquor law violator, in a quarrel over a small debt. Burris said Ray owed him.

Coroner C. P. Gray who was with Ray when he died at a local hospital, said he thought death resulted from a blow over the heart. Ray died two hours after he was struck down unconscious. City firemen tried for 30 minutes to revive him.

HERTENSTEIN ENTERS
PRIMARY FOR SHERIFF

Man Who Quit Efficiency Board Over Mayor's 'Three-Dot' System in G. O. P. Race.

Charles Hertenstein, former chairman of the Efficiency Board, filed his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Sheriff with the Election Board today.

He is the first to file a declaration of candidacy. Park Commissioner Pape, chairman of the Republican City Committee, has announced that he would file. Pape is expected to have the support of Mayor Miller. Several other politicians have considered seeking the office, which carries a salary of $1,000.

Hertenstein resigned as chairman of the Efficiency Board soon after Miller became Mayor. In doing so, he made public protest against Miller's "three-dot" system in referring applicants for city employment to the board. The number of dots indicated the degree of the Mayor's interest in the applicant. Hertenstein denounced the Mayor's attempt to control patronage in this way.

Since retiring from the chairmanship, Hertenstein has been in the real estate business. He was a member of the Board of Freeholders which drafted the present city Charter in 1913. During the World War he was a Federal food administrator here.

Today is Hertenstein's fifty-second birthday. He announced that he was entering the race for Sheriff at the solicitation of many citizens. A Sheriff in Missouri cannot succeed himself, the term being four years. George Strodtman will retire from the office at the end of this year.

DUKE PARRY DIES OF INJURIES SUFFERED IN HOTEL HOLDUP

Former St. Louis Reporter Attacked by Robbers in New York Last Month.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 15.—Duke N. Parry, former St. Louis newspaper reporter, died yesterday following an operation for an necessary to healing he suffered last month when he was attacked in a robbery in the Times Square Hotel. He was 39 years old and was a graduate of the Missouri University School of Journalism.

The operation was performed at Northport Hospital, Long Island, in an effort to relieve a skull fracture.

Allan Eddy, 22, seaman, was arrested by police for felonious assault and subsequently discharged and rearrested for alleged violation of parole.

Parry covered the Japanese embassy and was correspondant in the Far East for the International News Service. He later was with the Kansas City Star, the St. Louis Star and cable editor of the United Press. Recently he had been employed by an advertising agency.

Mrs. Parry, the former Mary Banks of Columbia, Mo., and a brother, Thomas W. Parry Jr., St. Louis publicity agent, survive.

Company Seeks to Purchase Shares of Laclade Concern.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 15.—The State Public Service Commission, which recently denied an application now by the Union Electric Light & Power Co. for permission to purchase 5250 shares of stock in the Laclade Power & Light Co., yesterday refused to grant a rehearing of the case. Both companies operate in and near St. Louis.

The purchase of the voting trust certificates would have given Union Electric one member on the Laclade board of directors. This, the commission held, was against public interest. Union Electric, through its president, Louis Egan, has instituted court action in an effort to overrule the commission.

DEATH OF BULLITT

Governor Counted on Seattle Man to Deliver Far Western Vote at Convention.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 15.—The Roosevelt-for-President campaign in the Far West was dealt a severe blow with the death of Scott A. Bullitt, whose widespread national connections were never known to the rank and file of the party in this State. Bullitt came here 18 years ago from Kentucky.

Most Washington Democrats did not know that their national committeeman and Franklin D. Roosevelt were close friends in Washington, D. C., years ago, when Roosevelt was Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Bullitt was Judge Advocate in the War Department. Bullitt, now a Seattle lawyer, now executive head of the National Democratic organization, were boyhood friends in Louisville, Ky., where Bullitt became Sheriff and Prosecutor before coming West.

A Colorful Leader.

Democrats here knew Bullitt as the most colorful leader they have had in recent years, and a candidate for Governor who ran ahead of his party ticket four years ago. Some wondered if he would run for Senator this fall. Few knew that higher honors apparently were in store for him in the event of Roosevelt's nomination. In the fall of this fall, One Roosevelt supporter, an influential man, recently dedicated to Bullitt he would be "the next Secretary of the Navy."

Bullitt was counted on to be "wheelhorse" of the Roosevelt forces from the Far West at the Democratic convention in Chicago, and his death at the age of 54 is counted by them a serious loss.

"I never knew a man with a better dramatic sense of what to do and when to do it in a party convention," says George Starr, Democratic state chairman.

Held in High Esteem at Albany.

Most Democrats know Bullitt as instigator of the plan which made Washington the first state in the country to instruct delegates for Roosevelt. In Albany he was recognized as the "standfast 'Rock-rib man' on the Pacific Coast. Bullitt went to Los Angeles many months ago and states the Roosevelt movement there. His hand also was felt in Oregon, too, in behalf of his New York friend.

Bullitt was son-in-law of C. D. Stimson, wealthy Washington lumberman. The death of Stimson two years ago, and of Bullitt's brother-in-law, Thomas D. Stimson, killed in an airplane crash last year, threw upon Bullitt's shoulders the responsibility for the family estate.

Bullitt's great-grandfather was president of the Constitutional convention in Kentucky, and Bullitt County in that State is named for him. Bullitt was also a great-grandnephew of Patrick Henry and Chief Justice John Marshall.

SECOND WIFE GETS DIVORCE

Charges Non-Support; Husband Pledged Guilty of Misappropriation of Money From Firm Last December.

Mrs. Alice Leisse Pardo, 47, Tesson avenue, obtained a divorce yesterday from Ramiro V. Pardo on the ground of non-support.

Pardo, former export manager of the Superior Hat Co., pleaded guilty last December of obtaining money by false pretenses from his firm and later was paroled on his plea that he was contributing to the support of a divorced wife, who is an invalid, besides his second wife.

The second Mrs. Pardo testified she married him Sept. 17, two days after his arrest on charges by company officials that he had appropriated $3560 during the last nine years. He told her she testified, that "there was nothing to the charges" and that he would sue the company. They separated in December. She testified she met Pardo while she was employed at the hat company. Her maiden name, Leisse, was restored.

MUNICIPAL OPERA TICKET
ARRANGEMENTS ANNOUNCED

Tomorrow Last Day for 1931 Subscribers to Retain Same Seats for Season.

Tomorrow is the last day on which last year's Municipal Opera season ticket subscribers may renew their subscriptions and be assured of the same seat locations they held formerly.

Beginning Monday the Municipal Theater Association will assign locations to the new season ticket orders. Acceptance of new season orders will continue at the association's offices in the Arcade Building until May 28. On May 30 the single seat sales will begin for the season that will open the season on Monday night, June 6.

Season reservations for 1932 total $76,000 and include renewals of more than 80 per cent of last year's subscribers. This amount is a new high record for reservations at this date.

J. J. Shubert, general production manager, and his technical staff are due in St. Louis late this month to select the chorus and to oversee the construction of the scenery for the first few presentations.

$50,000 BANK ROBBERY
AS DIRECTORS MEET

Bond Thief Apparently Slipped
During Session.

By the Associated Press.
GREENSBURG, Pa., April 15.—
The Greensburg Review says $50,000 in bonds were stolen from the Ligonier National Bank at Ligonier Tuesday night while the directors were in session.

According to the Review, the front door of the bank had been left unlocked to allow directors and officers to enter the building and the vault door had been left unlocked to facilitate access to books and papers.

While the meeting was in progress in a side room, according to one theory, a thief entered the bank, crawled to the vault, obtained the bonds and left. The theft was discovered Wednesday morning by Bert Clepp, a clerk.

A bank examiner and representatives of the Mellon Corporation, of which the bank is a member, have been working on the case. Fifteen directors and officers were in attendance at the meeting. S. C. Frank is president of the Ligonier National Bank and R. S. Keefer is cashier.

The robbery occurred between 7:30 and 8:30 p. m., while directors were sitting less than 20 feet from the vault.

GRADE TEACHERS' PAY PLAN WOULD SAVE $250,000

Voluntary Reduction, Based on Maintaining Present Scale, Equivalent to 5 Pct. Wage Drop.

An offer by the Grade Teachers' Association to accept a voluntary decrease in pay in the next fiscal year would save about $250,000 in the year cost. $2,327,714, compared with $2,309,668 the year before, a decrease of $127,826. He was unable to compare the quantities purchased, but thought they were greater last year than the year before. Meston cited as examples decreases in the cost of such staples as milk, flour, eggs, bread, ice cream and disinfectants.

Willingness to make a "sacrifice" without specifying how, has been expressed by the Elementary School Principals' Association. Should all members of the public school teaching corps agree to the plan proposed by the grade teachers, somewhat more than $400,000 could be saved.

In all of the 4500 school employees in all departments were subjected to the same plan, the annual saving would mount to about $550,000. Definite discussion, however, has been confined to the teaching corps so far.

The Grade Teachers' Association, through its Executive Committee, decided yesterday to propose that 10 days' salary be withheld from its members in the coming year. This is equivalent to an economy of 5 per cent in the payroll, since teachers are paid on the basis of 40 weeks of five days each. They have 10 paydays annually, and the association would have one day's pay held out of each check.

Would Retain Schedule.

It was specified by the association that this arrangement was subject to retaining the present salary schedule. There are about 1700 regular school teachers in the teaching corps, belonging to this association. Their average pay exceeds $2000 a year, officials estimate. The annual payroll for the entire teaching corps of about 3000 men and women is about $3,255,000. This includes about 600 high school teachers, about 600 in junior, special and vocational schools, 100 grade school principles and eight high school principals.

Miss Harriet A. Tyler, a teacher at the Benton School, president of the Grade Teachers' Association, notified the board of her group's attitude. The board will consider the subject when it meets May 10. President Murphy will discuss it with the association at Soldan High School the evening of April 22.

Philip J. Hickox, president of the Elementary School Principals' Association and principal of the Madison School, has written Superintendent of Instruction Gerling, for his Executive Committee. He expressed the organization's desire to co-operate as fully as possible in any endeavor to economize to the extent that the situation may demand. The association urged that nothing be done, however, to lessen the educational advantages of the children. Superintendent Will Take Cut.

Supt. Gerling, whose salary is $11,000 a year, announced he would agree to have 5 per cent of his salary withheld next year if the idea was adopted generally. This would cost him $550.

At City Hall, Deputy Comptroller Gunn said today the annual municipal budget bill would not be ready when the Board of Aldermen convenes for its new session next Tuesday. Conferences with department heads are being held daily in the effort to limit the budget to about $14,000,000, compared with $16,000,450,000 last year. The bill probably will be a week late. In connection with it the bill fixing the annual tax rate likely will be deferred.

Neither will the annual standardization bill, establishing salaries of city employees in the classified service, be ready for the time being. The Board of Estimate and Appropriations has called for a general salary reduction of city employees, but there is considerable sentiment among department heads and employees in favor of a five-day week, week-end layoffs or other means of staggering work. Like the teachers, the city employees do not wish their salary scales to be reduced, for fear of difficulty in restoring them in the future.

For the second year, city employees will not miss their mid-April payroll because of the delay in making appropriations for the new fiscal year. The Board of Estimate has arranged to pay them, following a request by the Board of Aldermen.

A committee of the Circuit Judges told the Board of Estimate today the Judges would not accede to the city's suggestion that they accept a salary reduction along with other officials. The Judges feel they are State officers and not amenable to municipal practices. However, the committee agreed to a 10 per cent reduction in the budget for the Circuit Court, which was $22,500 last year.

Specific savings to be included, under the agreement, are: Civil Jurors' fees, $4,000; criminal Jurors' fees, $15,000; printing and stationery, $6000; cost of deputy probationary officers, $2000.

Hospital Commissioner Lohr requested the Board of Estimate today for month-by-month allowances to continue operation of the Municipal Lodging House during the spring and possibly the summer. Formerly the establishment was closed between April 1 and Oct. 1, but this year it is still sheltering 1100 to 1300 homeless men nightly.

The board agreed to finance the lodging house until May 15, when it will consider the subject again.

8 Cents a Night Per Man.

The cost of the lodging house was $20,463 between last Oct. 1 and April 1, or 8 cents a night per man, including supper and breakfast. In that period it accommodated 228,269 men, compared with 185,618 the year before. Since April 1, a check showed, most of the lodgers have been St. Louisans, with few transients.

A final decision was made by the Board of Estimate to eliminate the annual appropriation for municipal advertising, expended through the Industrial Club and the Convention Bureau. This has been $20,000 for a number of years.

Supply Commissioner Meston announced today that all supplies bought by the City in the last fiscal year cost $2,327,714, compared with $2,309,668 the year before, a decrease of $127,826. He was unable to compare the quantities purchased, but thought they were greater last year than the year before. Meston cited as examples decreases in the cost of such staples as milk, flour, eggs, bread, ice cream and disinfectants.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has suggested that its members correspond with city, school, police, election and judicial officials here, and with the Republican and Democratic city committees, urging public economy.

It favored limiting expenditures to those which were absolutely necessary and opposed any increase in taxation.

Y. B. RUCKER, NEWSPAPER MAN, DIES IN MIAMI, FLA.

Former Reporter in St. Louis and Springfield, Mo.; Friend of President Roosevelt.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., April 15.—L. V. B. Rucker, 52 years old, former newspaper reporter in St. Louis and Springfield, Mo., and in recent years a member of the Miami Herald staff, died here last night, after six months' illness.

He went to work for the Springfield Leader about 1900, and, removing to St. Louis in the World's Fair period, was employed at various times on the Post-Dispatch and other St. Louis papers. He remained in St. Louis until 1912, when he went East, and worked in New York several years. He became closely acquainted with Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who took a strong interest in calling him "Old Missouri." He worked in Houston and other Texas cities before locating here. His widow, who was Miss Grace Stewart, a former resident of St. Louis, survives him.

The French objection was that this plan, suggested as a means of providing additional security against attack, said nothing about the abolition of battleships which Tardieu described as the most obvious aggressive weapons.

Norman Davis, another member of the American delegation, and Norman H. Armour, counselor to the American embassy in Paris, were with Stimson at the meeting. Secretary Stimson arrived in Paris shortly after 11 a.m. from Havre, where he left the Ile de France this morning. He was greeted at the station by Premier Tardieu, former Premier Laval and a large crowd.

Stimson came from Havre in a private car. When he alighted at St. Lazare he stepped out on the brilliant red platform carpet that is brought out for royalty.

He planned to spend only today in Paris, then proceed on his way to Geneva. "I'm going to get behind and push things there," he said.

Former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg and Mrs. Kellogg were among those who greeted Stimson on his arrival.

Premier Tardieu presented Mrs. Stimson and Mrs. Kellogg with bouquets of roses.

Commenting for the first time on the proposals presented to the disarmament conference by Hugh Gibson, chief of the United States delegation, Stimson said they were a logical sequence to the trend of the conference and a symposium of the harmonious points of previous speeches by delegates of several nations. He said it was a misnomer to call them "an American plan."

Asked whether he was carrying additional proposals, as reported, he declined to reply directly.

"The American delegation will continue as in the past, Ambassador Gibson carrying on his fine work as chief of the delegation," Stimson said. "I am going to get behind and push things, but I also intend to inform myself. I do not expect to interfere with the routine."

Asked if he would participate in the disarmament debate or merely observe, he said he could not answer.

Premier Tardieu was host to Secretary Stimson and Mrs. Stimson at a State luncheon at the Quai d'Orsay at noon. The guests included Cabinet Ministers and their wives, former Ambassador and Madame Jules Jusserand and United States Ambassador Edge and Mrs. Edge.

It is understood that after he has finished at Geneva, Stimson plans to make a tour of the principal European capitals.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 15.—Frightful wind storms in the Kodiak Island region of Alaska, known to the natives as willy-wahs, are to be studied by a naval expedition under Lieut. R. H. The winds have been attributed to cold air currents from nearby mountains which break through the warmer air belt at sea level.

BODY FOUND AFTER BLIZZARD

By the Associated Press

DOWNEYVILLE, Cal., April 15.

—Last December Hans Butten, 48 years old, a miner, set out from the Old Colony mine near here to buy decorations for a Christmas tree. His body was brought home today, recovered from the snow half a mile from the mine where he had fallen in a blizzard, the Christmas decorations clutched in his hands.

WILLIAM J. BURNS, DETECTIVE, DIES SUDDENLY AT 72

Former Head of U. S. Bureau of Identification Succumbs to Heart Disease at 72.

SARASOTA, Fla., April 15.—William J. Burns, the detective, died of heart disease at his winter home near here last night. He was 72 years old.

A few hours earlier, apparently in the best of health, he had assisted his family in the entertainment of guests.

He was stricken shortly after the guests left and died without regaining consciousness. Funeral services will be held here and the body probably will be placed in a vault for removal to New York for burial later in the spring.

Boyhood Ambition Was to Be Great Detective.

Mr. Burns, when a boy, had an ambition to be a great detective. He gave up the man's tailor trade of his father in 1895 to enter the business of crime detection. He settled in Baltimore, but his family moved with him to Columbus, O., where he spent most of his early life. His father, Michael Burns, served as Police Commissioner of Columbus at one time.

The first big case of Burns' career was the solution of the Ohio tally sheets fraud by which a group sought to place a Senator in office. He entered the United States secret service at St. Louis when 28 years old and in 1896 gained national recognition by solving the "Costa Rican" case in which a group of Central American revolutionists tried to discredit their country and raise funds by counterfeiting in the United States.

Counterfeiting cases were almost a hobby with Burns and it was he who led the smashing of the Bill Brocaway gang of currency forgers in Philadelphia.

Land Fraud Investigation.

Burns resigned from the secret service in 1903 and took charge of Western land fraud investigations in Oregon, Washington and California for the Department of the Interior. He worked on graft cases in San Francisco, Atlantic City and Detroit, and took part in murder investigations in several large cities, among them the slaying of Herman Rosenthal, New York gambler.

In 1909, with his son, he established his own detective agency. He had charge of the investigation of the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times plant in 1910, which led to several convictions.

As Chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice during the Harding and part of the Coolidge administrations, Burns figured in the Teapot Dome scandals.

Soon after entering the department he was bitterly attacked for raids on "reds" and radicals. In 1923 he led the investigation into the Wall Street bomb explosion, working on an expressed conviction that the Soviet Russia would be found to be implicated in the case. Thirty-seven persons were killed in that explosion.

He was closely associated with Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty from 1921 to 1924 and regarded as his greatest achievement the organization of the first nationwide bureau of identification.

In 1924 he was indicted along with Harry F. Sinclair and Henry Mason Day, Sinclair's associate, for the jury-shading which caused the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy material.

The United States Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Sinclair and Day, and both served jail sentences.

W. Sherman Burns, son of W. J. Burns, was in active charge of the Burns Agency at that time. His agents did the shadowing. W. S. Burns paid a fine of $1000 but the Court held that the elder Burns had not been shown to be responsible and set aside the 15-day jail term imposed upon him.

Justice McReynolds, in delivering the opinion, said 15 Burns agents came to Washington to "spy upon" the Burns Agency.

Since his retirement from the Government service and from his private agency work, W. J. Burns has been writing magazine stories about his biggest cases.

FOUR HELD PENDING INQUIRY

Police Say Men Tried to Dispose of 5000 Shares in Cleaners' Association.

Four men, one described by police as a former convict, who have been stopping at leading hotels since their arrival here two weeks ago, are held at Police Headquarters pending investigation of their efforts to sell stock in a cleaners' and dyers' association.

Police are holding two expensive automobiles, in which the men traveled with uniformed Negro chauffeurs. The latter, who were established in a rooming house by their employer, say they have no money to pay the board bill. Bills contracted by the four suspects at two hotels also are unpaid.

According to Detective Sergt. Tester, the men attempted to sell 5000 shares of stock, par value set at $1, in a cleaners' association, which they claim to be organizing in a dozen cities. They are known to have been in Memphis, Tenn., and Denver, Colo., recently on a similar mission. The prisoners say their proposition is legitimate, but police characterize it as a form of extortion.

PLANNING THE MENUS:
RECIPES FOR WEEK

OUR FOREIGN FRIENDS
OFFER THESE RECIPES

Peppy Fruit Cocktail, Beefsteak Pie and a Vegetable Casserole Given.

Salmon and Chicken as Prepared in Rural Parts of France.

If you want to give your Sunday dinner a fine start-off, serve the orange and gingerale cocktail listed in the menus for the week published in this section. It will add zest to any meals and a recipe is given below.

Just for a change from roast, broiled steak is down for Sunday dinner. Buy enough to use the left-overs for juicy, savory beef-steak pie Monday night. That always goes well, especially with the men of the family.

A vegetable casserole for Wednesday evening supplies a meatless dish which is really very good. To be sure, meat bouillon cubes are included, but just for flavoring.

While eggplant is still good, try stuffing one by the following recipe. Cucumbers and tomatoes are getting cheaper and should be used as often as possible. Fresh asparagus and peas are getting down to the average family budget and are welcome additions to the dinners of the week.

Beefsteak Pie.

Cut steak left-overs in one-inch cubes. Cover with boiling water, add half an onion and cook slowly one hour. Remove onion, thicken gravy with flour diluted with cold water, season with salt and pepper.
Add potatoes cut in thin slices which have been parboiled 10 minutes in hot salted water, thinly sliced carrots and any vegetable left-overs. Put in a greased baking dish, cover with baking powder dough and bake in hot oven for about half an hour.

Orange and Gingerale Cocktails.

Prepare two cups of seedless orange sections, arrange in six sherbet glasses, chill, and just before serving cover with gingerale, and sprinkle with chopped mint.
This is a most appealing beginning to a dinner, and also is good for evening parties.

Chocolate Sauce.

For six persons, melt half a square of chocolate in top of double-boiler. Add four tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch and blend well. Add one cup cold milk, and stir constantly until thickened. Then cook slowly about 25 minutes. Cool and add half a teaspoon of vanilla. This is good with puddings, also.

Perfect Raisin Gelatine.

Cover one cup seedless raisins with cold water, bring to a boil, drain and cool. Soften one tablespoon gelatine with two tablespoons orange juice, set over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Take from fire and cool partly. Add slowly three tablespoons more orange juice, blend well, then add one cup whipped cream, one cup diced canned pears, raisins half a teaspoon vanilla, speck of salt, and last fold in whites of two eggs which have been beaten very stiff with half a cup of sugar. Put in six sherbet glasses and chill well before serving.

Vegetable Casserole.

Dissolve four bouillon cubes in two cups boiling water, and add one cup each of diced potatoes, diced celery, canned peas, canned lima beans, canned tomatoes, one chopped onion, one-quarter cup rice, one teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Turn into buttered casserole, cover and bake in slow oven for about one and one-half hours until all vegetables are tender. Add more hot water if necessary.
Twenty minutes before serving, sprinkle top with buttered bread crumbs and brown without cover.

Stuffed Eggplant.

Cut off stem of one large eggplant. Remove 20 pounds split lengthwise, scoop out most of inside, chop, combine with one tablespoon minced onion, one minced green pepper, half a cup drained canned tomatoes, two tablespoons melted butter and one cup minced ham or other cooked meat. Fill shell with mixture, sprinkle top with buttered crumbs and bake about 45 minutes in moderate oven.

Tomato Aspic.

Cook one quart canned tomatoes, one small sliced onion, one stalk celery, several sprigs of parsley, one bay leaf, two cloves and one tablespoon sugar together until vegetables are tender. Press through a sieve, add one teaspoon salt, dash of pepper and two tablespoons gelatine which has been softened in one-quarter cup cold water. Stir until gelatine is well dissolved, and when almost at setting point, turn into mold which has been dipped in cold water. Cut in squares to serve.

CANAPES AND SANDWICHES

Shred well-seasoned canned fish, crab, salmon, lobster, shrimp or tuna, and mix to a smooth paste with butter, using the tablespoonfuls butter for crackers.
Take half a cup of mashed sardines, add one large chopped dill pickle, two tablespoons butter and one tablespoon prepared mustard.
Also spread on crackers.

Remove skin from half a pound of liverwurst, mash and add one teaspoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, dash of paprika and a speck of sage.
Spread on chips of toast.

Spread thin, soft slices of bread with soft cheese, roll tightly, secure with toothpicks, and toast under broiler.

shrimp sauce and pour over salmon.

Smothered Chicken.
Cut medium sized chicken in pieces, roll in flour and brown on all sides in salad oil in heavy frying pan. Add a bit of clove of garlic to oil, removing after browning chicken. Then add one-half cup sliced fresh mushrooms, one-half cup chopped green peppers, one tablespoon minced onion; three cups canned tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover pan and simmer until chicken is tender. Blend a little flour with drippings to make gravy.

Peach Cake.

Two cups of flour, one-half cup of sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, a little salt sifted together.
Rub in about one-third cup of butter, beat one egg thoroughly and add two-thirds cup of milk and mix all together. Grease tins and spread bread crumbs, one-half cup chopped parsley, one-half cup salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Trimmed Chicken.
One thin veal cutlet, one teaspoon drippings, one teaspoon chopped onion, one teaspoon chopped parsley, one-half cup bread crumbs, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Colored Frostings.

Colored frostings add much to the charm of a cake, and may be in three or four places.

Dust with salt, pepper and flour.
Place in pan; add one-half cup hot water. Roast in hot oven 35 to 45 minutes, adding water if needed.
Remove to hot platter; pour tomato sauce around meat and garnish with parsley.

one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar and one-half teaspoon salt. Rub in one-half cup shortening and when well blended add one beaten egg and enough cold water to make a melted butter. Press evenly over the bottom and sides of a deep pie plate and fill with the cheese-cake mixture.

Orange Juice and Milk.

Chill well one pint cold milk and one cup orange juice. Blend two, strain and serve at once.

Every time one goes to the shops there seem to be more appealing arrays of canned goods and prices are certainly low enough to permit generous buying.

Just now is the in-between-time for both fruit and vegetables, with the fresh supply still a little high, so it is good to know that the family can be amply served with canned substitutes which have all the food and vitamin values of the fresh foods.

Canned pineapple and other fruits, turnip crab, lobster and shrimp, canned meats and vegetables of many varieties can be temptingly prepared to satisfy the spring appetite, and some suggetions follow:

Pineapple Date Cream.

Two tablespoons gelatin, one-half cup water, two cups cream, one-half cup coconut, one-half cup pineapple juice (hot), three slices

Hawaiian pineapple cut into pieces, one cup dates.

Soak gelatin in water. Add hot pineapple juice. Set aside to cool.

Whip cream and when gelatin has begun to thicken fold in cream and other ingredients. Place in large mold or individual molds, chill until set. Turn out molds, garnish with sliced pineapple, dates and whipped cream.

Shrimps, Eggs and Peas.

One can shrimps, one can peas, two cups white sauce, three hard-cooked eggs, buttered whole wheat toast, parsley and lemon.

Pick over shrimps and remove intestinal cord which runs down center back. Add with drained peas to sauce and heat thoroughly.

Dice two eggs, add to creamed mixture and arrange on toast. Garnish with remaining sliced egg, parsley and lemon fans.

Tuna Fish is a King.

One pound can tuna fish, three tablespoons flour, one pint milk, one tablespoon diced pimientos,

few grains cayenne, three table-spoonsful butter, one-half tablespoonful diced green pepper, one teaspoonful salt, one-half bay leaf parsley, buttered toast.

Meat. Melt the fat, add the pepper, and one teaspoonful chopped onion, as desired. Cook until tender, then add flour, seasonings, pimientos

and gradually milk, stirring constantly. Put in bay leaf and let it stand in sauce until it is ready to be used. Flake the tuna fish with a fork, stir carefully into the hot sauce, arrange on the toast and garnish with parsley.

Vegetable and Cheese Casserole.

One cup canned mixed vegetables, one and one-half cups scalding milk, one cup soft bread crumbs, one-fourth cup melted butter or margarine, two pimientos, chopped, one and one-half tablespoonfuls chopped onion, one and one-half cup American cheese, three-eighths teaspoonful salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper, dash pa-rika, three eggs, one tablespoonful chopped parsley.

Pour scalding milk over bread crumbs. Add butter, pimientos, onion, cheese and seasoning.

Then add the well-beaten eggs. Put vegetables in a well-greased loaf pan and pour milk and cheese mixture over them. Bake about 50 minutes in a slow oven until firm.

Corn Timbales.

One can corn, six eggs, one-half pint whipping cream, one level teaspoon paprika, two or three shakes of red pepper, salt to taste.

Stir eggs together with a fork until they are well mixed. Add corn which has been mashed through colander, add cream and seasoning.

Grease cups well with butter, fill and set in pan half filled with hot water and bake in moderate oven for 15 minutes. Remove from molds and serve with cream sauce.

FRIEND TOLD HIM

ABOUT ALL-BRAN

And It Brought Relief From

Constipation

Those who are bothered with constipation should read Mr. Gelpke's unolicited letter:

"I have suffered with constipation for years. A friend of mine told me to try ALL-BRAN. I have taken

ALL-BRAN for the past six weeks as a breakfast food. It has regulated my bowels as clockwork. Now I would not be without a package at all times." — Mr. Leslie Gelpke, 273

Ridgewood Ave., Newark, N. J.

Common constipation—with its headaches, loss of appetite, sleeplessness—is due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin

B is helpful to the intestinal tract.

Both are present in Kellogg's ALL-

BRAN, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective,

ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

TRY ALL-BRAN in place of pills

One-fourth cup rice, one-half cup cut onion, two tablespoons bacon drippings, two cups tomatoes, two teaspoons salt, one teaspoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one tablespoon cut parsley. Cook onions in pan with drippings until tender, but not brown; add tomatoes and boil 10 minutes; rub through strainer into boiled rice and water; add seasoning and sprinkle with parsley.

GRAHAM CRACKERS IN CREAM

Some day when you find your supply of whipped cream is rather scant, crumble up graham crackers very fine, and mix with flavored cream.

It makes the cream go further, and gives a new and nutlike flavor to the cream which is very good on desserts or fruits.

Have the name cards and favors in yellow and white and serve ices of the same color and little cakes with yellow cupids or flowers.

A delicious luncheon may be arranged with the following menu:

Fruit Cup. Thin slices of chicken with baked ham and cream sauce. Tomato sauce molds with chopped celery. Hot rolls. Marmalade. Mint Nut Marmalade.

And for the shower, there is almost unlimited opportunity, for there are so many new and fascinating devices which the bride will appreciate for her kitchen.

Oven thermometers, measuring cups, double omelet pans, all sorts of molds for salads and desserts, fancy cookie cutters, pastry tubes for salad, dessert and cake decorations, etc.

And should it be decided for all the guests to unite and give one real gift, as is sometimes done, instead of individual gifts, why not get one of the almost magic mixers, which do everything from mashing potatoes to mixing cake, blending mayonnaise and whipping cream?

PLAIN SPONGE CAKE MAY BE FLAVORED WITH CARAMEL

Boil one and one-fourth cups of sugar and one cup water to soft ball stage when tried in cold water. Pour this syrup slowly over beaten whites of six eggs, and continue beating until cold. Add beaten yolks of six eggs and half a teaspoon of vanilla.

Fold in one cup pastry flour sifted four times with one-fourth teaspoon salt and one teaspoon cream of tartar. Bake in ungreased tube pan for an hour in slow oven.

For caramel flavored cake, make like above but use brown sugar instead of white to make the syrup

PROPER SAUCES GIVE FINE FLAVOR TO LAMB

Mint, Orange and Jelly Are Delicious Accessories for This Meat.

Lamb, almost more than any other meat, seems to be enhanced by appropriate sauces. Too many believe that only mint sauce is good with lamb, when orange and jelly sauces are delicious also.

First, to make a good mint sauce, care should be taken not to use too much vinegar and have it give a bitter touch to the meat.

Cut these proportions: One cup mild vinegar to one-third cup sugar and one-half cup chipped mint leaves. Combine sugar and vinegar, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add mint, and let it stand for an hour before serving.

Canadian mint sauce is made by boiling one cup of currant jelly, and adding two tablespoons minc'd mint leaves and 2 tablespoons orange rind finely shaved.

Orange sauce: Heat an oven, turn on only moderate heat, turning the oven when one side is cooked. Pour a little melted butter over and serve very hot.

Carefully wash and dry shad roe, brush it over with melted butter or bacon fat, then roll in fine seasoned bread crumbs and broil, having only moderate heat, turning the roe when one side is cooked.

Wash, dress and split a trout lengthwise. Place in a well-greased pan, slice raw tomatoes over the fish, with thin slices of onions over them. Dot with butter and bake in a moderate oven about one hour, or longer if the fish is very large.

Carefully wash and dry shad roe, brush it over with melted butter or bacon fat, then roll in fine seasoned bread crumbs and broil, having only moderate heat, turning the roe when one side is cooked.

Pour a little melted butter over and serve very hot.

and grated rind of half an orange. This sauce is also very good with duck or other fowl.

And here's a fine garnish for the roast lamb platter: Make cups of boiled carrots by scooping out centers, and fill with boiled new peas and a little melted butter.

BAKED WHITEFISH IS GOOD WITH CAPERS AND OLIVES

Remove head and bones of fish but do not bruise meat. Cover the bottom of a large flat pan with a cotton cloth, place the fish open on this and sprinkle with salt.

Cut eight stuffed olives into thin rings, mix with two tablespoons capers and two tablespoons mild vinegar, add to two cups rolled crackers and spread on fish.

Lay six slices of bacon over stuffing and bake in moderate oven until fish is tender and bacon is crisp and brown. The skin of fish will adhere to cloth. Remove rest of fish with large spatula to serving platter.

HOME-MADE BOUILLON IS RICH AND SAVORY

Long Process Repaid by Tasty and Strengthening Product.

We have received a request for a recipe for making beef bouillon. This is rather a long process, and nowadays many people prefer to buy the canned bouillon, or to use the convenient bouillon cubes. The home-made product, however, when carefully prepared, is certainly a delicious soup and well worth the time and trouble it takes. Buy three pounds lean beef from the middle of the round, and two pounds of marrow bones, which should be well cracked. Cut meat in small pieces an inch or two in length. Put about 2-3 of it in a large soup kettle with three quarts of cold water and one tablespoon of salt and let stand 20 minutes. Melt two tablespoons fat in a frying pan and brown the rest of the meat in it with the marrow from the bones. Put browned meat and the marrow bones in with the meat and water.

Pour one cup hot water in the frying pan and let it boil up to get all the extracts and juice from the meat. Pour this in with the rest. Heat slowly to the boiling point, skim thoroughly, and let simmer, or cook just below the boiling point, for five hours.

Then add one teaspoon whole peppercorns, a large sprig of parsley, one-half cup each finely diced celery, turnips, carrots and onion, and a small sprig of bay leaf. Let cook another hour, then strain, cool and skim off all the fat.

The bouillon is now ready to eat. To do this, pour the strained soup in a clean kettle and add two whole egg shells. Boil steadily 10 minutes, then strain through double thickness of cheesecloth placed in a strainer. Instead of the two egg shells, one shell and a beaten egg white may be used.

It is best to make the bouillon one day, strain it and let it stand until the next day to clear it.

Bouillon may be served hot or cold, or it may form the base for jello or jellied meat dishes. The recipe given makes about two quarts of bouillon.

MEAT COOKERY

Lack of cooking skill, and lack of interest in cooking are perhaps most to blame for the lack of variety in meal planning that so many people complain about. Especially is this true in the case of meats. Butchers say that the average housewife thinks that sheep are raised chiefly to produce lamb chops, leg of lamb and wool!

However, it is well to remember that the animal has other parts, and that they can be used to make attractive, economical and nutritious meals. Breast, shoulder, hams and neck all have possibilities as roasts, for ragouts, fricassées, pot pies and other delicacies in the culinary line.

MIDNIGHT FEASTS FOR THE PANTRY BANDITS

Supplies on Hand Will Simplify the Late Snacks and Please Youngsters.

Icebox and pantry foraging is a game much liked by the young generation, and a supply of foods kept on hand that lend themselves to hasty snacks are sure to be appreciated. A few tins of sardines, eggs and bacon, prepared pancake or waffle mixture, several kinds of cold cuts, a few hard-boiled eggs, a package of sweet crackers, plenty of bread and butter, coffee and milk—these are what might be called the standbys. With them we might evolve such feasts as these:

Grilled sardines on toast

Cheese bits Sweet pickles

Coffee Sweet crackers

Waffles with cheese sauce and bacon

Coffee Canned fruit

Scrambled eggs on anchovy toast

Lettuce sandwiches

Coffee or Cocoa

These are only a few suggestions of the host of things that are possible. Each forage supplies a different air of provender—what matter if tomorrow's dinner suffers, or the fruit for breakfast disappears—"eat, drink and be merry" is the motto of the midnight feaster! The remedy is to provide, as we have suggested, stock in trade, as it were. Here are recipes for some of the dishes mentioned:

Grilled Sardines.

Use the sardines in oil—a small can to each two servings, or a large one for four. Open cans and put the sardines with oil in a frying pan and heat until very hot and slightly fried. Meanwhile melt two tablespoons butter, add three tablespoons flour, and when blended stir in one and one-fourth cups milk. Stir over a slow fire until thickened, after cool add to it one half cup of whipped cream and juice of half a lemon.

Cooked Mayonnaise.

Mix the yolks of three eggs and a teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of butter, a dash of pepper and one-half cup of vinegar. Set over the fire and stir constantly until it thickens, after cool add to it one half cup of whipped cream and juice of half a lemon.

Cheese Bits.

Mix equal parts of roquefort and

cream cheese and season with a few drops worcestershire sauce,

Make as many pieces of toast as

are necessary, spread the sauce

over the toast and place the drained, hot sardines on top. Serve at once.

Cheese Bits.

Mix equal parts of roquefort and

cream cheese and season with a

few drops worcestershire sauce,

Make as many pieces of toast as

drained, hot sardines on top. Serve

at once.

Make a white sauce and add one-half cup grated cheese to each cup sauce. Season highly and pour over hot waffles, adding two or three pieces of bacon to each serving.

Spread Camembert cheese on slices of bread and add a thin layer of sliced pineapple. Cover with a second slice of bread and serve with plenty of hot coffee. The canned pineapple slices, split through to make thin pieces, are fine for these sandwiches, or very ripe fresh pineapple may be used.

TOASTED COCONUT SQUARES WITH BUTTER-ALMOND ICING

Spread contents of a can of dry, shredded coconut in a layer cake pan and bake in a slow oven to a golden brown, stirring occasionally so that it will brown evenly. Cool and chop fine. Bake a plain or a chocolate cake mixture in a pan 1 1/2 inches deep.

Cut the cake in squares when cold and ice top and sides with butter icing. Roll in the toasted coconut and garnish center of each cake with a candied or maraschino cherry.

Cream one-quarter cup sweet butter for the icing, and add gradually one and one-half cups confe-ctioners' sugar and two teaspoons heavy cream or evaporated milk. Beat to a creamy mixture and add, if necessary, a little more sugar to make a consistent like that of stiff whipped cream. Flavor with a little almond extract.

MOLASSES COOKIES

One cupful shortening, one cupful brown sugar, one cupful sour milk, two teaspoonfuls soda, one teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful ginger, one teaspoonful cinnamon, one tablespoon vinegar, five cupfuls pastry flour.

Cream shortening and blend with brown sugar; add the molasses and sour milk. Sift together three cups of flour with soda, salt and spices. Add to first mixture together with vinegar. Add the rest of the flour, taking care to keep the dough soft. Chill three to four hours or overnight. Roll medium thin and cut in desired shapes, or shape dough before chilling and roll. Bake on greased baking sheets in a moderate oven for 15 minutes.

RAISIN PIE

Grated rind and juice of two lemons, grated rind and juice of one orange, one cupful light brown sugar, one and one-quarter cupfuls water, one scant cupful walnut meats, coarsely chopped, three teaspoonfuls corn starch pastry, two cupfuls seed raisins.

Cook together all ingredients except corn starch. When it comes to a boil, thicken mixture with corn starch mixed with one tablespoon cold water. Use as a filling for a double crust pie and bake. Makes one nine-inch pie.

CUCUMBER CREAM SALAD IN GELATINE MOLD

Peel and slice three cucumbers, cook until tender in water with one small sliced onion. Press through sieve, measure and to each cup of pulp add scant tablespoon of gelatine softened in cold water, then dissolve over boiling water. Fold in one cupful of whipped cream, one tablespoon lemon juice, a little salt and paprika. When cool and almost set, turn into mold previously dipped in cold water.

"Plate" Dinners Save Effort And Time for the Housewives

"PLATE DINNERS," with all the main courses served on one plate, have much to recommend them, especially where one person must take care of cooking and serving. We sometimes spend too much time in preparing meals and with present day abundant varieties of prepared and semi-prepared foods, we should allow them to help. With a little imagination, unusual and delicious meals can be served with less effort and the change afforded by serving plate style will be welcome to your family, as well as a saving of time and energy to you.

One flank steak—weight two pounds, four cups soft bread crumbs, three small onions, minced, three eggs slightly beaten, one teaspoon thyme, one tea-spoonful marjoram, two teaspoonsful salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper, four tablespoonsful melted fat, two tablespoonsful hot water, two teaspoonsful sage.

Combine all ingredients but steak. Mix well, spread on steak, then roll it up, and secure with skewers or tie it. Next roll the stuffed steak in seasoned flour and sear on all sides in a little hot fat.

Rhubarb is Good in Combinations

Marmalade, Pineapple Pie, Puddings and Whip
Among Possibilities.

Don't think that rhubarb is just good for sauce; it's one of the easiest things to combine in all sorts of good desserts. And orange and orange and rhubarb marmalade may be made now and enjoyed for months to come.

Rhubarb and Orange Marmalade.

To six pounds of rhubarb allow six sweet oranges. Wash rhubarb stalks, and cut in small slices without peeling, unless stalks are very large and coarse. Place in a kettle and sprinkle with two cups sugar. Cover and let stand overnight. Slice oranges without peeling, cutting them in slices as thin as possible and discarding the seeds only. Cover oranges with cold water and boil gently for an hour or until the peel is tender.

Cover and let stand until next day. Next day mix the oranges and rhubarb, measure and add a cup of sugar to every cup of the mixture. Heat slowly to the boiling point, then boil gently for about an hour or until thick. Test by putting a little on a cold plate;
when it stiffens as soon as cool, it is done. Pour into sterilized glasses

Rhubarb Whip.
Another simple dessert—a cold one, this time. Cut pink stalks in small pieces and cook with a very small amount of water until tender—about eight minutes. Add one cup sugar to three cups rhubarb
and cook just long enough to dissolve the sugar. Chill. Line sherbet cups with lady fingers, fill with the chilled rhubarb and top with a large spoonful of very thick whipped cream or evaporated milk, whipped and stiffened with a little plain gelatin.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie.

Two cupfuls diced rhubarb, three-quarter cupful sugar, one cupful milk, two eggs, pastry, one quarter cupful sugar, two tablespoonfuls flour, one-quarter teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful lemon juice, one-quarter teaspoonful vanilla.

Stew rhubarb and three-quarter cup sugar until soft. Cool, add milk and beaten eggs with sugar, flour, vanilla and salt. Add lemon juice.

Remove from fire, add lemon juice and rind. When cold pour in to baked pastry shell. Make a meringue, cover pie and brown.

Rhubarb and Pineapple Pie.

Use fresh pineapple if possible,
peeling and chopping a small one.

Mix with three cups finely cut pink
rhubarb, two and a half cupfuls and two tablespoons flour.

Line a deep pie plate with pastry, then half
fill with fruit and flour.

Roll a small piece of pie crust as thin as a wafer and cover the fruit with it, then spread the rest of the fruit on top of this and cover with the usual top crust.

Press the edges firmly together
and bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes, then reduce the heat to a moderate temperature and bake for 40 minutes longer. The middle crust, if rolled thin enough, will melt in the baking and thicken the pie to a delicious jelly-like consistency.

cold water and boil gently for an hour or until the peel is tender.

Cover and let stand until next
day. Next day mix the oranges
and rhubarb, measure and add a cup of sugar to every cup of the mixture. Heat slowly to the
boiling point, then boil gently for
about an hour or until thick. Test
by putting a little on a cold plate;
when it stiffens as soon as cool, it

Rhubarb Whip.

Another simple dessert—a cold
one, this time. Cut pink stalks in small pieces and cook with a very small amount of water until tender—about eight minutes. Add one
cup sugar to three cups rhubarb
and cook just long enough to dissolve the sugar. Chill. Line sher-

bet cups with lady fingers, fill with the chilled rhubarb and top with a little plain gelatin.

Rhubarb and Pineapple Pie.

Use fresh pineapple if possible,
peeling and chopping a small one.

Mix with three cups finely cut pink
rhubarb, two and a half cupfuls
and two tablespoons flour.

Line a deep pie plate with pastry, then half
fill with fruit and flour.

Roll a small piece of pie crust as thin as
a wafer and cover the fruit with it,
then spread the rest of the fruit on
top of this and cover with the usual
top crust.

Press the edges firmly together
and bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes, then reduce the heat to a moderate temperature and bake for 40 minutes longer. The middle
crust, if rolled thin enough, will
melt in the baking and thicken the
pie to a delicious jelly-like consistency.

Rhubarb and Orange Marmalade.

To six pounds of rhubarb allow
six sweet oranges. Wash rhubarb
stalks, and cut in small slices
without peeling, unless stalks are
very large and coarse. Place in a kettle and sprinkle with two cups
sugar. Cover and let stand overnight. Slice oranges without peeling, cutting them in slices as thin
as possible and discarding the seeds only. Cover oranges with cold water and boil gently for an hour or until the peel is tender.

Cover and let stand until next
day. Next day mix the oranges
and rhubarb, measure and add a cup of sugar to every cup of the mixture. Heat slowly to the
boiling point, then boil gently for

LEMON JUICE PEP'S UP
RELUCTANT APPETITESMay Be Added to Other Fruits Used in Mayonnaise and as Garnishes.

Fruit juice, well chilled, slightly sweetened and made tart by the addition of a little lemon juice, is particularly welcome these early spring days when the appetite often needs a spur. Pineapple juice, grapefruit, cranberry, prune, grape or rhubarb juice, as well as combinations of orange and grapefruit, grape and pineapple, pineapple and rhubarb, are all good. Rhubarb juice is obtained by stewing the young stalks of rhubarb in the usual manner, sweetening slightly, and then straining off the juice. Chill thoroughly.

Lemon juice is delightful in mayonnaise as follows: Stir two egg yolks, one teaspoon salt and one tablespoon lemon juice until well mixed. Beat in one pint salad oil very slowly. When dressing becomes thick add two tablespoons more of lemon juice and another pint of oil.

Still another lemon mayonnaise may be made by adding one-third cup whipped cream and three-quarters tablespoon lemon juice to any regular mayonnaise.

Thin slices of lemon or fancy cuts are fine garnishes for soup, fish, salads, tea or vegetables. Fine chopped parsley, mint or pimento sprinkled over the lemon add to the charm of the garnishes.

Lemon butter for fish adds much to the flavor and is used as follows: Cream together three-quarters cup butter, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, one-half cup lemon juice and one-quarter cup finely chopped parsley.

And orange-lemon icing for buns is very good. Cream together very thoroughly three tablespoons butter, one and one-half cups powdered sugar, three tablespoons orange juice, and two tablespoons lemon juice and one teaspoon grated orange rind. Spread on buns or baking powder biscuits hot from the oven.

PULLED MOLASSES CANDY

One cup molasses, two cups brown sugar, one cup water, three tablespoons vinegar, three tablespoons butter.

Put molasses, sugar, water and vinegar into saucepan and stir; boil until very brittle when dropped into cold water; add butter and pour on buttered platter. When cool enough to handle, butter hands and pull until light brown. Pull into oblong strips and cut with scissors.

into five slices lengthwise. Discard top slice as it will be rather irregular, and use it for crumbing or for the next day.

Butter two inner slices on both sides and the bottom and top slices on one side only.

Spread chicken or any favorite vegetable salad on first, second and third slices, and press fourth slice down firmly over all. Put in pan, cover with cloth and put weight on top.

Let it stand for at least two hours. When serving, place on platter, surround with olives, radishes and crackers.

Sandwich loaves are very popular this Spring for bridge games and after the movie parties. They are rather more novel than the usual refreshments, and when served with coffee are most appealing.

They are good to put on the list for the summer porch parties which will soon be with us again. Take one loaf of fresh bread, and cut with a very sharp knife.

ESCAPED TAXATION

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Albert Manning, 19 years old, convicted La Salle County burglar, was captured at the home of his sister on the North Side last night three hours after he had kidnapped a guard at the Illinois State penitentiary at Joliet and made the guard drive him to Chicago.

Manning surrendered without a struggle after police had surrounded the building where his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Tipton, resides. Police looked for him there after he had forced the guard, Daniel Ingraham, to leave him at Broadway and Argyle street, two blocks away.

Ingraham told police that he was working in the garden of his home near the penitentiary when Manning, a trusty assigned to work outside the prison walls, threatened him with a switch knife, forced him into his car, and made him drive to South Side Chicago. There, they abandoned Ingraham's automobile and entered a taxicab, driving to the North Side.

To prove that records of wealth were available to the assessors of the county, Keehn cited reports of state governmental agencies and of the United States Census Bureau, and other public documents.

Keehn opened arguments in the so-called Jarecki case, asking that Judge Jarecki's decision holding 1928 and 1929 Cook County tax rolls fraudulent, be upheld.

"Without any effort at all, the assessors could have found $16,000,000.00 in personal property to put on the books," Keehn said. "The rolls, however, show only $500,000.00."

To prove that records of wealth were available to the assessors of the county, Keehn cited reports of state governmental agencies and of the United States Census Bureau, and other public documents.

Keehn argued that the court's decision in the case of the Cook County tax rolls was based on a misinterpretation of the law.

Keehn represents Lillian Cesar, who attacked the tax bill for the two years. He was aided in oral arguments by Attorney Morris Schaefer.

The Board of Assessment and Review and the County Treasurer will be represented by Attorneys Urban Lavery, Haydon Bell and Francis X. Bush.

WELLSTON KENNEL CLUB TO ATTEMPT TO RE-OPEN

Suit Filed at Clayton to Restrain State and County Officials from Interfering.

The Wellston Kennel Club, which withdrew from dog racing in St. Louis County in 1928, will attempt to reopen its track on St. Charles road, it was indicated today with the filing of a suit at Clayton to restrain state and county officials from interfering with operation of the track under "the public subscription plan."

The petition says that the plan does not constitute gambling and is not illegal but contemplates merely the awarding of purses through public subscription in "greyhound racing contests of speed, strength and endurance."

The plan, according to the suit, contemplates a proportionate payment to holders of winning tickets of 70 per cent of the total subscription after expenses and the amount of purses have been taken out. The holder of a ticket on a dog which finishes second would receive 20 per cent and the holder of a ticket on the third dog, 10 per cent.

Principal owners of the club, which according to the suit is an unincorporated joint stock association, include Daniel O'Neil, Edward J. O'Hare, Mrs. O. P. Smith, widow of the inventor of the mechanical rabbit, Richard Wilder of Alton, and Frank Anderson of Belleville.

VANDEVENTER BANK RECEIVER ACTS TO DISSOLVE BOND GROUP

An equity suit, stated to be a friendly proceeding, was filed today in Federal Court, by Joseph F. Holland, receiver of the Vandeventer National Bank, for dissolution of the Community Bond Group, a bond investment trust which the bank maintained for itself and its customers.

The bank, it was stated, bought the bonds and sold participation certificates to customers, entitling them to share in the yield of the bonds. The bonds held have a face value of $125,000, and the bank's participation interest is $11,000. There are 30 other participants.

Holland's petition, filed by Arthur Freund as his counsel, stated that the bonds at present would bring about 40 per cent of their face value. The bank needs to realize its share of the fund, Freund said, but some of the participants, at a meeting last night, showed a wish to hold the bonds until a better price can be obtained for them. The court may be asked to pro-rate the bonds between the participants desiring to sell, including the bank, and those wishing to hold on.

ADVANCE IN UTILITIES IS FEATURE OF STOCK TRADE

Market Registers Gain for Second Successive Day for First Time in Weeks—Recessions From Top Before Close.

STOCK PRICE TREND

NEW YORK, April 15.—Public utility issues led a further recovery in the securities markets today. The stock market encountered profit-taking in the last hour, which reduced extreme advances by nearly half, but net gains of 1 to 2 points or more were numerous at the finish. The closing period was steady. Transfers approximated 1,600,000 shares.

The expected receivership proceedings against Middle West Utilities apparently had cleared the atmosphere in financial quarters considerably. Utility preferred stocks and bonds registered numerous sharp advances. Furthermore, the Federal Reserve credit expansion program came in for comment.

The increase in shares was influenced in part by a five-point break in Auburn to a new low, probably in belated response to its first quarter earnings of only 4 cents a share. Peoples Gas gained six points, net, and preferred stocks of Electric Power and Light, and North American Edison gained five or more. Among issues closing about one to two points higher were North American, Consolidated Gas, National Power and Light, American & Foreign Power preferred issues, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, National Biscuit and Union Pacific. American Telephone was a soft spot, closing about a point lower, after recovering temporarily from an early setback. U.S. Steel closed a fraction higher.

Foreign exchanges were mixed, with fresh firmness of the French franc notable. This currency ruled 2½ points higher at 3.94 13-16 cents for a level at which gold cannot profitably be drawn from New York by Paris. The Dutch guilder, which has also been hovering around the outgoing gold point, sagged slightly. Sterling cables ruled at 37.77 1/2, off ½%.

Developments in Utilities

The financing problems of Middle West Utilities and the other In-sull holding companies had injected an oppressive element of uncertainty into the financial markets for some time. Sweeping declines in the securities of these holding companies had already discounted possible receivership, so that news of application for one in Chicago brought considerable relief. Furthermore, the steps taken by Electric Bond & Share, including announcement of a one-year extension of subsidiary loans, tended to fortify the utility list generally.

While American Telephone's net for the first quarter of $33,639,204, amounting to approximately $2.07 a share, was better than unofficial estimates in Wall street had indicated. The fact that some $5,000,000 of its income reflected dividends received from, but not earned by subsidiaries, apparently caused a little early selling. On the other hand $5,900,423 in dividends was received from Western Electric last year in quarter and none this year.

The Federal Reserve's weekly statement showed that it had actually added about $100,000,000 of United States Governments to its portfolio, injecting that much credit into the open market. New York for the first week reduced its security loans by $46,000,000, showed little change in commercial loans, but increased investments in other than Governments by $20,000,000.

The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding on April 13, as reported by the Federal Reserve banks, gained $29,000,000 over the preceding week. While there was a decrease of $12,000,000 in monetary gold stock, this was partly offset by a decrease of $25,000,000 in other.

18TH AMENDMENTResponsibility for Preventing Return of Saloon,
He Adds, Would Then Be
That of States'.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 15.—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment was urged today by Senator Wagner (Dem.) of New York before a Senate Committee considering a variety of proposals for changing the prohibition law.The Bingham bill to permit 4 per cent beer will be considered by the Senate Manufactures Committee on Monday. The committee is closely divided between friends and foes of prohibition.Wagner said those daily joining "the ranks of the advocates of repeal are those of our citizens who have a care for the habits of their children, who are alarmed at the organized expansion of crime and violence, who are concerned for the dignity of their Government which is openly belittled, and for the supremacy of the law which is flagrantly defied and successfully challenged."He had introduced a resolution for repeal.Wagner said that "in January, 1931, when the Wickersham Committee recommended the revision of the eighteenth amendment, I took the liberty to suggest on the floor of the Senate that revision was but half a step which must be completed by repeal.""It was told that repeal was impossible," he added. "My reply was that repeal was inevitable."Wagner said "we are manacled to the eighteenth amendment" and added a "mighty river of illicit liquor" had enriched the gunman and racketeers and had financed
"every unspeakable crime."He asserted it was no longer necessary to "adduce proof that the promise of prohibition has not been fulfilled."All that was necessary to restore state responsibility for solution of the problem, he added, was to do away with the eighteenth amendment.A second objective, he said, was the protection of the prohibition states.Laws already in effect when the Volstead act became law, Wagner added, gave state protection. He urged their re-enactment if the eighteenth amendment were repealed.A third objective, he said, was prevention of the return of the saloon. He added this responsibility was on the states."Nothing," he said, "will change the fundamental fact that the saloon can be 'put out' of a community only by the will of that community."He criticised the Beck-Linthcum proposal to give the states the choice of being wet or dry, saying it would be the tendency of the prohibition states to "unshoulder upon the Federal Government the responsibility of keeping their territory internally dry."Local enforcement, he said, "is not a proper sphere for Federal action."He also mildly criticised proposals by Tydings (Dem.), Maryland, and Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, for state liquor control.
All the proposals mentioned, he said, recognized that the liquor traffic must "henceforth be subject to local standards." All that is necessary to bring that about, he said, "is to strike out the eighteenth amendment."

College Head for Repeal.

Ernest M. Hopkins, president of Dartmouth College, in a letter to Bingham made public today, declared prohibition repeal was "fundamentally vital to the welfare of the country at large."Bingham placed the letter in the Congressional Record. The education in response to an inquiry by Bingham. The letter read in part:There are few major problems social, economic or political, before the country which are not being complicated and made more difficult of solution by the existence of this amendment. In its impossibility of its enforcement it works disastrously to respect for law and creates demoralizing disdain of government."Wagner urged consideration of repeal on economic grounds, saying the liquor traffic is still flourishing and illicit liquor is escaping detection.

HITLER TO SEEK COURT'S AID
IN CONTESTING TROOP ORDERDanzig Free State Fearing Trouble Forbids Political Parades and Mass Meetings.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 15.—Adolf Hitler announced today that he would retain the best lawyers he could find to contest the legality of the emergency decree dissolving his party's storm troops.He also will sue, he said, to obtain redress for property seized and personal liberty violated in raids on the storm troops barracks.DANZIG, Free State of Danzig, April 15.—Anticipating trouble following dissolution of Adolf Hitler's storm troops in Germany, the Danzig Senate forbade outdoor political parades and mass meetings throughout the free state where President-von Hindenburg's decree does not apply.He added he did not blame them for not obeying "such a law" and asserting "wets" who "vote dry," saying they were "worse" than drys who "sneak a drink."

Million in Deposit Box.

He said he knew of a bootlegger who had more than $1,000,000 in safe deposit boxes, adding: "We might as well collect income taxes from counterfeitors as bootleggers."Rufus Lusk of Washington, representing the Crusaders, said his organization stood for the "outright repeal" of the eighteenth amendment. "In 1919," he said, "about 500,000,000 people in the world lived under prohibition. Now only about 140,000,000 are living under prohibition. This shows the change in world sentiment."He argued that sentiment in this country is steadily growing against the liquor laws and that prohibition "is the main thing which is causing the depression to continue."Representative McGugin (Rep.), Kansas, asked if 2.75 per cent beer is not intoxicating. "It is not," shouted Representative Stafford (Rep.), Wisconsin. "I've got in my cellar 2.75 per cent beer made under the war-time prohibition act and I can vouch personally that it is not intoxicating, on my word as a representative."Representative William E. Hull of Illinois, recently defeated for re-nomination, urged in the House that additional members support a motion for a vote on legislation to legalize 2.75 per cent beer. The farmers "are changing their minds," he said, because "they know the manufacture of beer would help them." Meanwhile, he continued, "25,000,000 barrels of beer are being sold in this country surprisingly each year."In the House, Representative William E. Hull (Rep.), Illinois, today expressed the view that President Hoover would sign a bill to legalize and tax 2.75 per cent beer, although he said he had no concrete reason for making such a prediction. The President would sign the bill, he thought, because it would raise about $500,000,000 in Federal taxes annually, provide employment and help the farmers.

NO QUICK REMEDY
FOR DEPRESSION, DECLARES MELLONAmbassador, Speaking in London, Says Economic Crisis Are Invariable Results of War.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 15.—United States Ambassador Mellon told the Pilgrims Society last night there was nothing in world conditions so unprecedented as to justify a lack of faith "in our capacity to deal with them."He spoke before an audience of 400 or more, including the Prince of Wales; Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, and Lord Derby, who presided.Before his address he drank toasts in champagne to King George and the President of the United States, in accordance with his previously expressed intention to conform to the customs of the country to which he had been accorded.Those who had hoped for some "capitalism, or whatever name may be applied to the system which has been evolved in adapting individual initiative to the machine age." In discussing the way out of present economic difficulties, he declared:"I do not believe in any quick or spectacular remedies for the ills from which the world is suffering."Mellon recalled that he had passed through many crises which invariably followed wars. Economic depressions, he said, "are the price we pay for war and they must be reckoned as a seemingly unavoidable stage in the sequence of events."

Economic Cycles.

The economic life of nations seems to go in cycles he said, spurting forward in industrial expansion, then inflation and extravagance, "which brings its own retribution."Then the downward movement begins and the whole structure seems to topple about our heads.Yet we know by experience that such catastrophes never completely wipe out the progress which has been made, and that when the world begins to mend the many gains of recent years will not be lost but will be consolidated."Even while we meet here tonight readjustments are taking place to place the world over and these will continue until the balance has been restored."Mellon said one of the world's greatest difficulties in the solution of this crisis was that those who were left over from the last century still looked upon the

I know that my movement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate iniquities or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

What Causes Depression.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: All income may reasonably be divided into three classes, according to its use: 1. The subsistence income, that portion of the nation's income that is spent for living and operating expenses. 2. The expansion income, that portion which provides for the expansion of our industrial system. 3. Unproductive income or surplus, which is not spent. This is received through interest and profit by those who make no adequate return to industry.

The total of the subsistence income and the expansion income is our effective purchasing power. The other form of income serves only to extract more and more of our effective purchasing power from the first two classes, adding it to its own useless ranks. A depression results when our effective purchasing power cannot absorb our production, which we proceed to call overproduction. Clearly, too little of our national income is subsistence income, which serves to absorb the greater part of our production. It also follows that too much of our national income has become unproductive surplus and is not effective purchasing power. In fact in 1927, one-half of 1 per cent of the population would have had to absorb one-eighth of our production to prevent underconsumption. Since this was impossible, the depression was on its way. We are still nourishing this root of our trouble.

It follows, too, that the various goods and services, the products of our industrial machinery, can be purchased in their entirety only when our total income so received is spent for them. Our Government and legal set-up are designed to protect wealth and its accumulation. Which is to say, our system at present works to curtail the effective buying power of the nation. Every dollar of taxes saved to an individual in the low income fields amounts to an equal increase in that individual's purchasing power. It is evident that revenue must come from this accumulated wealth of the country, its frozen buying power. There are two choices. One is the voluntary return of this money to ordinary channels of subsistence income, a very unlikely phenomenon. The other is the taxation of wealth, including its income, to return it into effective purchasing power. Until then, we will be unable to consume what we are able to produce. D. R. J.

Charges Mr. Hoover With Breaking Faith

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

OUR editorial entitled, "The Crowned Folly," cannot go unchallenged.

The agitation for the payment in full of adhesion compensation certificates did not take form until after the passage of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill, making two billion dollars of public funds available in loans to banks, railroads, etc. President Hoover, in sponsoring and signing this bill, broke faith with the veterans because, in his Detroit speech before the American Legion, he promised strictest economy in governmental operation. If the Government is financially able to hand out this dole to business, then it should also take care of its obligation to the veterans.

H. J. GUTTING.

Like a Game of Marbles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

H. LIONBERGER arrives at the conclusion that our economic plight is not due to machinery, but to the fact that machinery has, I suppose, the power to discuss who we are.

Idle men and machinery are not the cause of our trouble. They are but the outward symptoms of our illness. The cause is that we owners of land and machinery have been too greedy. We have taken too large a share of what has been produced and thus we have impoverished the masses, our dear customers.

We have been like a bunch of kids playing marbles. Some of us have had the edge on the other kids, and we have taken all of their marbles. Now we cry because the other kids can't play with us any more. What's the remedy? It's a deep secret and I won't tell you, but if you ever want to play marbles again, you know what to do.

Questions Roosevelt's Candidacy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE movement to make Franklin Roosevelt the Democratic party's candidate for President has been gaining strength and progressing in a manner which belies spontaneity and indicates a high degree of able, determined organization.

The all-important question arises, Who or what is the organization that wants to make him President? When this election is over, we will be four years from another. In these pressing needs for economic stability, which the country may easily prove fatal to our national integrity.

I have read Mr. Roosevelt's articles in Liberty, and have seen nothing yet which proved him more than an unusually cautious, clever politician. He should be proved or beaten!

CHARLES SCHUSTER.

THE FACTS OF HOARDING.

The statistics of our monetary circulation throw some interesting sidelights on the problem of hoarding. For a year following the crash of 1929, money in circulation followed the downward trend which is usually associated with a decline of business activity. But beginning in the latter part of 1930, it began to increase and, with only a few breaks, continued steadily upward until a short time ago. At the high-water mark, the circulation was about a billion and a quarter dollars more than in the autumn of 1930. Almost all of this increase was in the form of paper money, principally Federal Reserve notes. This indicates that there has been very little gold hoarding, and that public confidence in the solidity of the Federal Reserve banks has not been shaken.

Although the total paper money increased greatly, the notes of smaller denominations decreased. The circulation of dollar bills was only $5,000,000 more on Feb. 29, 1932, than it had been on June 30, 1930, and substantial decreases in the circulation of $2 and $5 bills resulted in a decline of about $40,000,000 in the combined circulation of bills of these three denominations. The increase in $10 bills was relatively small, but $20 and $100 bills each increased by about $400,000,000. Although the actual increase was less in the larger denominations, the percentage increase was even greater. Bills of $500 nearly trebled, and those of $1,000 more than doubled. It is quite clear that the man of small means was not the principal offender in hoarding, but that the movement was concentrated either among the banks or individuals of substantial resources. It would appear that the recent publicity campaign directed against hoarding was based largely on a misapprehension as to the facts of the case.

Most of the increase in Federal Reserve notes was in those districts which contain large metropolitan areas. For example, in August, 1930, the New York and Chicago banks had in circulation 25 per cent of the total reserve notes, and a few weeks ago they had 42 per cent. Although bank failures in a number of cases have been followed by increased note issues, the conclusion of Prof. Harold Reed of Cornell University, in a recent article in the Journal of Political Economy, is that there has been surprisingly little correlation, by reserve districts, between bank failures and hoarding. In reserve districts with a large proportion of rural population, the percentage increase in notes has been small, even where the bank mortality rate has been high; but in reserve districts with large metropolitan areas, where, in the words of Prof. Reed, "business pessimism is highly contagious, wherein stock market reactions influence general psychology to the greatest extent, whereas also the practice is the most common of maintaining private safe boxes in bank vaults in which withdrawal currency may be kept," the increase in issues has been uniformly great.

Apparently, the farmers, like their comrades in distress, the unemployed, are not the guilty parties in the matter of hoarding.

What Causes Depression.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: All income may reasonably be divided into three classes, according to its use: 1. The subsistence income, that portion of the nation's income that is spent for living and operating expenses. 2. The expansion income, that portion which provides for the expansion of our industrial system. 3. Unproductive income or surplus, which is not spent. This is received through interest and profit by those who make no adequate return to industry.

The total of the subsistence income and the expansion income is our effective purchasing power. The other form of income serves only to extract more and more of our effective purchasing power from the first two classes, adding it to its own useless ranks. A depression results when our effective purchasing power cannot absorb our production, which we proceed to call overproduction. Clearly, too little of our national income is subsistence income, which serves to absorb the greater part of our production. It also follows that too much of our national income has become unproductive surplus and is not effective purchasing power. In fact in 1927, one-half of 1 per cent of the population would have had to absorb one-eighth of our production to prevent underconsumption. Since this was impossible, the depression was on its way. We are still nourishing this root of our trouble.

It follows, too, that the various goods and services, the products of our industrial machinery, can be purchased in their entirety only when our total income so received is spent for them. Our Government and legal set-up are designed to protect wealth and its accumulation. Which is to say, our system at present works to curtail the effective buying power of the nation.

Every dollar of taxes saved to an individual in the low income fields amounts to an equal increase in that individual's purchasing power. It is evident that revenue must come from this accumulated wealth of the country, its frozen buying power. There are two choices. One is the voluntary return of this money to ordinary channels of subsistence income, a very unlikely phenomenon. The other is the taxation of wealth, including its income, to return it into effective purchasing power. Until then, we will be unable to consume what we are able to produce. D. R. J.

AN UNDIGNIFIED SPECTACLE.

It is not a dignified spectacle that Alfred E. Smith presents in expressing his jealous resentment of Gov. Roosevelt's candidacy.

The obligation of good sportsmanship spares no one in public life. Mr. Smith had the misfortune to secure the presidential nomination at a time when Democratic prestige was low, and Gov. Roosevelt has the good fortune to be the leading candidate at time when the prospects of the party are particularly rosy.

We hold no brief for the Governor of New York, nor have we numbered ourselves with his supporters; but we respectfully submit that Mr. Smith's attack upon him at the Jefferson day dinner at Washington was as bad-mannered as it was insincere. Mr. Smith looks out upon the battlefield of his own defeat, bring four years ago with the triumphant armaments of Republicanism, and sees only the dense legions, rank upon rank, of an aroused and militant Democracy.

It is too much for him, and he turns his wrath upon his whilom friend and party ally, the Governor of New York, seemingly to be the beneficiary of this great political metamorphosis. Mr. Smith is not only opposed to such a man as he suddenly discovers the Governor of New York to be, but he will resist any attempt by his party to make any man but himself President of the United States.

There can be only one effect of such an indiscretion. It will increase the prestige of Gov. Roosevelt, and it will conversely diminish the prestige of Mr. Smith. If there was any danger that their rival candidates would split the party, it has been averted by this surprising performance. Never in the race, Mr. Smith has, paradoxically, taken himself out of it.

CHICAGO AND DOWNTOWN.

The division between Chicago and downstate Illinois, or more accurately between Chicago and the rest of the State, was clearly shown in the outcome of the Democratic primary contest for Governor. The third man in the race, Bruce A. Campbell, East St. Louis attorney, who has never held elective office, carried downstate by some 20,000 votes over the nominee, Judge Horner, and State Representative Igou, the other leading candidate. In Cook County, however, where about 475,000 Democratic ballots were cast, Mr. Campbell received the surprisingly small vote of 6500 persons. But if Chicago remembered its own, so did Mr. Campbell's home community. St. Clair and Madison Counties, where he is well known, gave him very good pluralities. It is no small consolation for him to know that many Republicans asked for Democratic ballots in order to give him their support.

HITLER LOSES HIS ARMY.

Suppose that the Ku Klux Klan, at the height of its power, had been a political party, with its eyes on the White House, great antipathy toward the Government and hatred for the country's neighbors. Suppose the organization had drilled and armed selected men among its members, and that it was rumored to be plotting a forcible overthrow of authority. It is idle to think that the Government would have delayed long in outlawing the military activities of the organization.

This is approximately what has occurred in Germany, where Hitler's "storm troops," said to be 400,000 strong, have been declared illegal by the Hindenburg Government. This unofficial army was a great source of danger to the struggling Reich, whether or not one accepts as gospel the disclosures of conspiracy made by the Government after a series of raids on Nazi headquarters. Drilled by officers of the ex-Kaiser, these men might at any moment have launched a movement that would have plunged Germany into chaos and perhaps have kindled a new European war.

The Fascist chief of staff has pointed out that 80 per cent of these men were unemployed, and their disbandment will aggravate the Government's relief problem.

With its capital and reserves wiped out, the Metropolitan Opera company has heard its director volunteer to serve next year without pay, if its members will accept salary reductions which will enable the company to go on.

An anticipated deficit of $82,000 this year is expected to cause the dissolution of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. There will be no summer opera at Ravinia this season. Other instances of the suffering of the fine arts during the depression could easily be cited.

WORLD TRADE AND THE DEBTS.

A sense of proportion is admittedly a fine thing, and nowhere, perhaps, could it be applied more helpfully than to present to the vexing question of war debts.

Some figures cited by E. B. Dietrich, professor of economics at Mount Holyoke College, in a tariff discussion in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, may be offered. He says world trade in 1931 was 27 per cent below that of 1930 and 41 per cent less than the volume of 1929. This decline, we are informed, represents the disappearance of "about 10 billion dollars' worth of commodities—an amount equal to the total war loans of the United States to the Allies."

Exports of the United States, during those two years, fell off 55 per cent, while in 1931 alone our loss was $14,000,000; that sum was "almost six times larger than the inter-Allied payments due us in 1932."

What the effect would be on the business of the world if the war loans and reparations were all wiped out with a stroke of the pen is conjectural. There would be, presumably, an instantaneous psychological reaction in the debtor nations; but after the tumult and the shouting, the nations would still find themselves commercially fettered in chains of their own forging, and world trade, instead of rebounding to its former vitality, would still pound helplessly against the tariff walls.

What, in the circumstances, should statesmanship do, or, to be more specific, what should the heads of governments do? One thing seems certain: there can be no prosperity without world trade. Another: world trade cannot function normally with every country excluding every other country's goods by tariff barriers. And, so far as the United States is concerned, from a strictly selfish viewpoint, a half dozen years of prosperous foreign trade are worth more to us, in dollars and cents, than all the war debts if they were paid in cash right over the counter today.

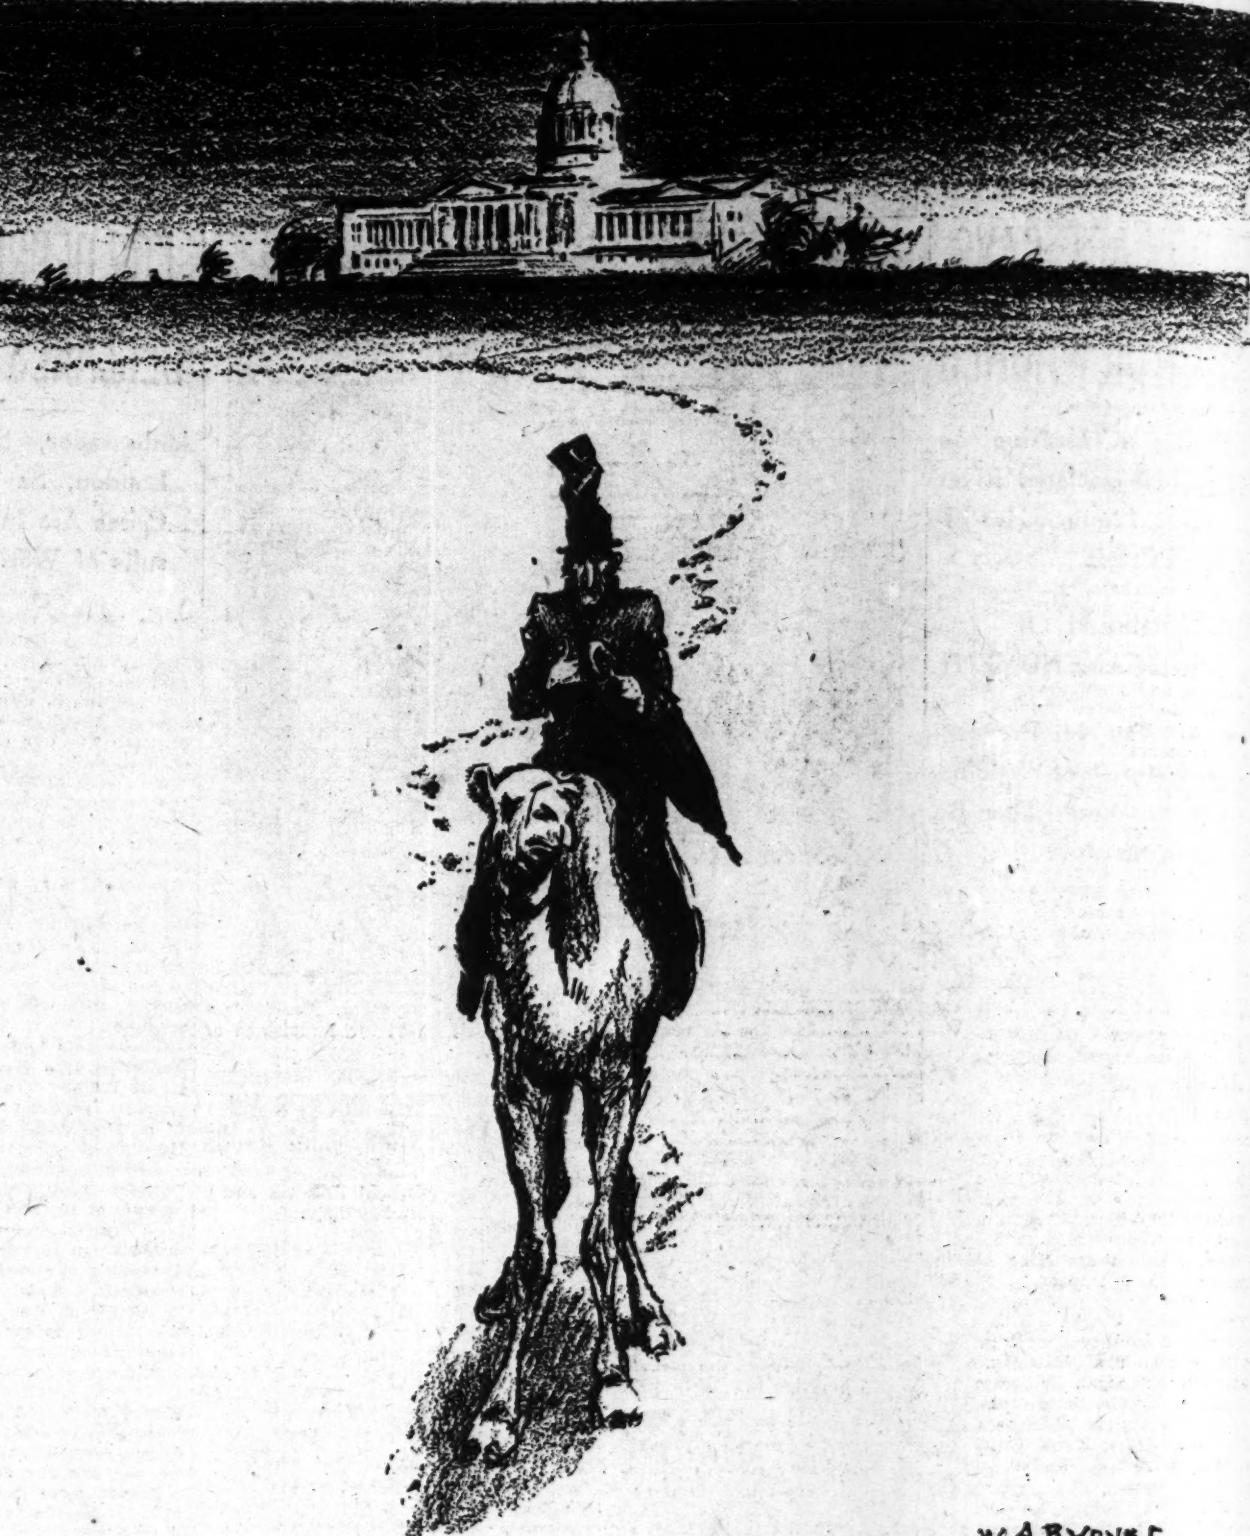

A sense of proportion, then, is what is needed: the ability to rate world trade and the war debts at their true value: the plain gumption to see that tariffs must be lowered and the resolution to propose such a program and fight for it.

LAZINESS AS A DEPRESSION PANACEA.

John Cowper Powys has been no sluggard in his 60 years, as his shelf of 13 books and his record of 10,000 lectures prove. Now, however, he is going to retire to his rural "Arcadia," somewhere in upstate New York, to revel in the languorous pursuit of his theory that pure laziness is the secret of happiness. This is not a novel hypothesis, for it has had many previous protagonists, such as Whitman, who sang, "I loath and invite my soul," and Stevenson, who wrote a convincing apology for idlers. But Mr. Powys would extend the idea from the individual to the world. Excessive industry has dragged us into the depression, he says, and wholesale laziness is the antidote to bring us out of it.

There is just enough truth in this, as an epigrammatic summary of the machine age and its maladjusted production, to place it among the paradoxical realities of our topsy-turvy world, where want elbows abundance in incongruous proximity. Mr. Powys' suggestion that everyone work as little as possible, to provide more jobs for those who like or need work, may not get the economists' endorsement of practice, but it has its pleasant points. At any rate the world would be well served if frenzied salesmanship, reckless expansion and frantic promotion went away together for a long nap on the sunny side of a haystack.

THE RETREAT FROM MISSOURI.

Proposing a New Dividend Policy

Corporations cut nation's buying power, own potential sales, by keeping back too much of earnings for working capital, expansion and reserves before paying dividends; this leads to over-expansion and stimulates speculation, economist urges larger payments, and in ratio to income, would hold reserves in cash or equivalent.

From "New Roads to Prosperity," by Paul M. Mazur; (Viking Press, Publisher.)

FOR 1926, 1927 and 1928 the average annual profits of American corporations were estimated at $7,220,700,000. Average dividends for those same years totaled about $4,100,000,000, or 57 per cent, leaving $3,120,700,000 undistributed. It has been the proud practice of American industrial units to impose upon their dividend policies so-called "conservative" and "constructive" measures. The essence of these practices is contained in the policy of assigning last place to the distribution of earnings.

This is approximately what has occurred in Germany, where Hitler's "storm troops," said to be 400,000 strong, have been declared illegal by the Government after a series of raids on Nazi headquarters. This unofficial army was a great source of danger to the struggling Reich, whether or not one accepts as gospel the disclosures of conspiracy made by the Government after a series of raids on Nazi headquarters. A sense of proportion, then, is what is needed: the ability to rate world trade and the war debts at their true value: the plain gumption to see that tariffs must be lowered and the resolution to propose such a program and fight for it.

If the withdrawal of funds from consumption to serve production diminishes the demand for goods or results in the failure of demand to keep pace with the increasing supply, then the supposedly constructive and conservative dividend policy of American industry is a contributing factor to the precipitation of a depression.

Surfacing there is a new identification for extreme conservatism in the formulation of a dividend policy: the creation of a surplus in "fat" years out of which dividends might be continued in lean years.

Even then, this policy would not solve the necessity of creating funds by means of which the excess production of excess profits could be absorbed. But the fact that the practice of continuing dividend payments rarely survives even one adverse

IN DIGEST POLL

North Carolina Joins Kansas in Prohibition Column—4,329,416 Votes Tabulated Thus Far.

North Carolina shows a small majority of dry votes in this, the ninth week's report of the Literary Digest prohibition poll. It is the second state to take this position, Kansas having shown a small dry lead throughout the voting.

The slight weekly gain in the proportion of dry votes continues. Of the total of 4,329,416 votes reported, 1,127,287, or 26.57 per cent, are for continuance of prohibition, and 3,192,129, or 73.73 per cent, are for repeal. In the first show, the dry ratio was 15.85 per cent of the vote.

Nevada now votes more than 7 to 1 for repeal; New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Connecticut more than 5 to 1 wet; Illinois, Louisiana, and Montana more than 4 to 1 wet; nine other states more than 3 to 1 wet, and 14 others more than 2 to 1 wet, making 31 states in which the wet vote is more than double the dry vote. Of the states voting wet, Tennessee rates highest in dry sentiment, with 48.4 per cent of dry votes; Arkansas has 47.5 per cent of dry votes, and Oklahoma 45.2 per cent dry. The vote by sections and states is:

The campaign in the Senate to cut appropriation bills 10 per cent drew an attack from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

"Labor is greatly aroused over the attempt which is being made in the United States arbitrarily to reduce appropriations measures 10 per cent," he said.

He added, that curtailment of public works construction would increase unemployment, and urged Congress to create new work opportunities.

Opposition to reduction in Gov-budget estimates of less than $3000 was expressed by Senator Johnson (Rep.) of California, who said:

"The to cut the salaries of men making $1500, $2000, $2000 and the like would be the cruellest and meanest thing we can do."

Taking the floor after Roop failed to appear before his committee with Mr. Hoover's plan for the five-day week in the Government service and annual leave without pay for workers during 1932, in order to save $35,000,000, McDuffie said:

"I wanted the House and the country to know that we are demanding a reduction of Federal salaries; that 98 per cent of the taxpayers of the country are demanding a reduction of Federal salaries and that we are trying to do something along that line. Unless salaries are reduced, there are going to be some new faces in Congress in the future."

"I wanted you to know that your committee is not responsible this for the failure to proceed to reduce Federal salaries in the legislative bill."

The Senate's economy work also has an uphill route, with protracted debate delaying a decision on a 10 per cent cut in the appropriations for the Treasury and Postoffice—a cut already agreed to for five other departments.

Such a reduction in this bill is bound to have a significant effect on the Postoffice payroll, mostly made up of small salaries, and upon the Government building program, which has been expanded under Treasury supervision as an employment measure.

The House today passed the $39,810 supply bill for the District of Columbia, approving a slash of $4,173,109 off President Hoover's budget estimates of 1933 needs. It now goes to the Senate. It brings the measure is $5,797,828 less than caucus and agreed to act as a unit on a wet party program at the state convention.

The committeemen, representing West and Northwest wards, pledged themselves under the reported direction of George F. Barrett of the Twenty-first Ward, to back "liberal" delegates to the G. O. P. convention at Springfield.

Both Cook County Republican Chairman Bernard W. Snow and State Chairman C. J. Doyle have expressed belief the State convention would adjourn until May after convening Monday as required by law. Snow said it was likely the date of reassembling would be May 20, and Doyle suggested May 29.

Slowly incoming returns and resistant expectations that Election Commissioners would not be able to certify the nominees and the party leaders elected in the primary gave rise to consideration of the postponement.

At first the Democrats, there was an indication of postponement from their camp. It was considered possible they would hold their State convention a week from today to select the delegates at large to the national convention and dispose of other party matters.

As the election returns continued to dribble in from scattered predicts, the latest available tabulations from 6418 of the State's 7229 precincts, gave the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Len Small, a margin of 89,045 votes over Omer X. Custer, his nearest opponent.
The tabulation gave:

Government to Introduce Bill in Dail Wednesday, With Labor Party Support.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, April 15.—The Free State Government will move next Wednesday toward abolishing the oath of allegiance to King George and probably will have the support of the Labor members of the Dail, it became known today.

The Government announced last night that a bill to abolish the oath would be introduced in the Dail. That President de Valera will have enough votes to pass it was forecast when Patrick Hogan, Deputy Speaker on the Dail and Labor member, said in a speech at Kilrush yesterday his party would stand behind the administration.
The Labor group, he said, would support the Government in its effort to obtain for every man "his just and right to freedom in his own native land."

The Government's announcement aroused attention, momentarily at least, from the question of the Dail annuities payments.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, April 15.—J. H.
Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, denied today that the Government was hinting at a move toward a united Ireland in its correspondence with President de Valera of the Irish Free State.
Speaking in the House of Commons, Thomas said he had assured Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland, that the Government did not contemplate "that any such development could take place without the consent of Northern Ireland."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 15.—A slight improvement in the condition of Senator William J. Harris of Georgia was reported today by his physician this morning. His general condition was described as a little better, although his physician said the Senator was still very ill.

It was added that there is still hope that he may recover. He is

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH FOUR ADMIT HOLDUPS OF DRY GOODS STORES

Men in One of Three South Side Robberies Taped Victim's Hand and Foot.

Four men arrested at California and Geyer aves last night had confessed holdups of three South St. Louis dry goods stores during the latter part of March and have been identified by the victim, Capt. Kirk of the Soulard Street District announced today.

The men said they were Alex Lewandowski, a maintenance man;
Ervin Holly, a chauffeur, and Clay Reed, chauffeur, who said they live at 1222 California avenue, and Timothy Courtway, clerk, of 429 Horn avenue, St. Louis County.

Capt. Kirk said the four men worked together on robberies, one remaining outside in an automobile and the other three entering the store. In one of the robberies they taped the victim's hand and foot before making their escape.

On March 30 they held up Benjamin Tischler in his store at 2655 Park avenue and took $100 from a cash register. After taping up Tischler and a clerk, Miss Constance Jackson, they demanded Tischler tell them where other money was kept. He replied there were other funds in a safe; they removed the safe, taking $210 in cash and checks.
They then taped Tischler's hands and feet again.

Other robberies were: On March 25, store of John Vaughan, 2757
Acme street, $25, and on March 26, store of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zieg, 4600 Louisiana avenue, $50.

HELD FOR MURDER OF FARMER

CARTHERSVILLE, Mo., April 14.—Sam Beard, 21 years old, a Negro, is held in jail here following his arrest by Constable Muirhead, on charges of murdering Charles T. Jones, a farmer, and of assault with intent to kill Lonnie Pulliam, another farmer. The killing occurred Saturday night. Jones was clubbed to death, robbed, and his body placed on the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad track, where a train ran over it. Jones and Pulliam were waylaid on their way home from a dice game. Pulliam was identified Jones.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH PSYCHOLOGIST WILLS BRAIN TO FRIEND FOR EXPERIMENTS

Harlow Gale, Now 70, Once Turned Out of Minnesota U. for Teachings.

By the Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 15.

Harlow Gale, 70 years old, former psychology instructor who once was turned out of the University of Minnesota for his teachings, has willed his brain to his friend, Dr. K. D. Lashley of the University of Chicago. Dr. Lashley likes to hike, and he plays the cello.

is to use the brain, if possible, in his experimentation regarding the location of functional brain centers.

"The brain, after all, is the most intimate part of the body," said Gale. "There is no reason to regard it with distaste when removed from the body, or why a person's brain should not be preserved as a memento to his friends."

He was modest in the matter of whether his brain would be of any unusual interest. "I think it's just a normal everyday brain," he said.
"It may be a pronounced hiking center and maybe an exaggerated music center."

Gale, despite his age, likes to hike, and he plays the cello.

SILVER BILL HEARINGS ORDERED IN SENATE

Meanwhile, House Coinage Group is Told International Conference is Inadvisable.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Hearings were ordered by the Senate Banking Committee today on the Pittman bill to direct purchase by the Government of domestic silver up to 5,000,000 ounces a month as a basis for the issuance of legal tender silver certificates.

Meanwhile, the State Department's reasons for thinking an international silver conference inadvisable at this time were laid before the House Coinage Committee. James G. Rogers, Assistant Secretary of State, testifying in the committee's study of silver and monetary bases, said "international preliminary discussions indicate a lack of interest that would stultify the result. I'm not in favor of going through a mere form."

Rogers asserted he had conducted negotiations for the State Department with Great Britain, France, Japan, China, Mexico and Canada but that the matter "now inoperative." He added it would be inadvisable for the United States to call the conference, even if these other nations were not uninterested because "in my judgment we're not in a position to lay down a program of helpfulness of sufficient prestige and weight to give a promise of success."

He conceded, however, that if it could be convened, "a silver conference might be a useful thing and have some value although not much was accomplished."

$35,000,000 MORE RELEASED IN ANTI-HOARDING CAMPAIGN

Total Decrease of Money in Circulation Since Effort Began Put at $211,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Another decline in circulation reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board indicated more millions of dollars were coming out of hoarding and returning to the Treasury. The board reported for the week ending April 13 money in circulation decreased $35,000,000 to $542,300,000. Since President Hoover inaugurated his anti-hoarding campaign, the net decrease in circulation totals $211,000,000.

At the same time the board reported that in the week Federal Reserve banks had bought $100,000,000 more in Government securities than the week before, and on Wednesday held $985,000,000 in such securities.

Total reserve bank credit amounted to $1,886,000,000, an increase of $87,000,000 for the week. The country's monetary gold stock shrank slightly during same period, dropping $16,000,000 to $4,380,000.

DROP IN VALUATION OF ILLINOIS BUILDING PROJECTS IN MARCH

Expenditure of $1,220,025 Authorized, Decrease of 16.5 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 15.—The Illinois Department of Labor reported yesterday 720 building projects, involving an expenditure of $1,220,025 were authorized in the State during March.

This represented an increase of 31.1 per cent over February in the number of projects contemplated, but a drop of 16.5 per cent in valuation from February and of 94.1 per cent from March, 1931. The report said lessening of construction in Chicago and its suburbs was chiefly responsible for the losses.

Of the total to be spent, 26.1 per cent was designated for residential and 23.5 per cent for nonresidential construction and 50.4 per cent for additions, alterations and repairs.

During the first three-quarters of the year, permits were issued for 1,752 buildings at an estimated cost of $3,624,997, representing a decrease from the same period last year of 46.3 per cent in number of projects and of 82.9 per cent in cost.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT AGAINST CARNERA REPORTED

Family of Miss Enelia Tersini Said to Have Served Papers on Italian Fighter.

London, April 15.—The London Daily Mail says the family of Miss Enelia Tersini, a British subject, has served process on Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight pugilist, charging him with breach of promise.

A report that Carnera would marry Miss Tersini on his return to Europe from the United States was published in the London Daily News March 11, 1932, but it was denied by Carnera and his manager, who were in Minneapolis at that time.

On learning that Carnera had denied they were engaged, Miss Tersini was quoted as saying: "Well, Mr. Carnera knows best. We are only friends, anyway." She is the niece of a restaurant keeper.

ROBBERS GET $10,000 PAYROLL

By the Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 15.—Five unmasked men armed with sawed-off shot guns and revolvers, held up 20 employees in the office of the Imperial Printing & Publishing Co. plant in Cranston this morning and escaped with the pay roll of $10,000 to $12,000. One shot was fired as the robbers sped out of the company's yard in a truck and disappeared. Two girl clerks in the office who did not comply quickly enough with the orders of the men were seized by the robbers.

FOREST FIRES IN FLORIDA

Much Damage Done to Orange Groves and Other Properties.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 15.—Forest fires in Florida and Georgia have destroyed orange groves, pine forests and buildings and today continued burning over valuable properties. Damage estimated at $30,000 has been done to orange groves near Palatka. A crew of 30 men has been fighting the fire since early Wednesday. Thousands of dollars damage has been done to citrus groves in St. Lucie County.

Four groves between Fort Pierce and White City were damaged by a blaze that spread rapidly yesterday before a strong wind.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN.

WITH a shrug of her sloping shoulders, Hope realized that in the scandal of Harmouth, she had hammered the last nail down in the coffin of her reputation. What Betty Preston said, even as she accepted the promised money for her nervous, bootlegging Twosome, hardly mattered; but certainly Hope had outgrown her queenly reign in the younger smart set. She was known in her own circle as a wild 'un, and was considered by the fond parents of 50 miles radius "an unwholesome influence." As a tombstone, deliberately raised, Hope refused pointblank to "come out." She decided that society should never know her officially.

In the spring, Hope took a four weeks' trip with Judy to Bermuda, accepting without protest Papa's insistence upon a chaperon. This chaperon, one Mrs. Manly, was a forlorn remnant of the Ross family on Mama's side. A woman who had been too true to be good, and who as a widow of a war hero, was starving with magnificent grace.

The trip to Bermuda, however, was cut short by a week because Sassy was taken ill. Back to New York rushed Hope, magnificently tanned and far more rested and steadiest than she dreamed. And in her train came Mrs. Manly, slightly broken-hearted at having so abruptly to end her first vacation in seven years, and Judy, who had quite tired of Bermuda any way.

When summer came Hope rebelled. With one single brittle word she rebelled. Not for fame, fortune, family or friendship would she go to Bar Harbor and face months of boredom with the old crowd of cottonmouths and lordly nits.

Mrs. Manly came to her rescue. And Papa Ross, finding his temper a matter of amusement instead of fear, changed his policy to one of large understanding. As a result, Hope and Mrs. Manly were sent out to a dude ranch in Wyoming. So great was Hope's delight in the company ofings of routine, so eager to abandon the sheer joys of physical strain and outdoor life, that for the first time in years something of her old self-sufficiency returned.

Hope's letters to Papa Ross must have indicated this to a high degree, for all of her special delivery favors were granted toward the fall.

Together, in a bond of strange friendship, Hope and Mrs. Manly, the girl of 19 and the woman of 68, traveled on through the West. To New Mexico, to Colorado, to California, to Vancouver, and even to Hawaii.

A new Hope, with the same old Sassy, still immaculately white of fur and grimly whiskered, returned to Westchester the following Christmas.

OH, A VERY different Hope. Who once more gloried in flirting and in triumphing—this time with an older crowd by far. An older crowd who were naive in the light of the younger set in many ways, but who taught Hope new and more dangerous thrills. The thrill of gambling that struck straight home, both in amusements of roulette and contract in the evenings, and in the stock market during the day.

For one entire year Hope crashed this crowd, blinding distaste, ambition for herself. And Papa Ross, thankful to see her happy and agreeable, sane and care-free once more, paid the piper again—and again.

But one old secret routine persisted with her daily, nightily and weekly. In a light blue velvet hand-tooled volume, locked with a tiny gold-filled key, Hope kept a scrapbook with strange little notations beneath the pages pasted therein. Evenings she would sit and pore over the scrapbook, and the old boy she didn't love him! Yes, he knew—she knew Dickey was still a husky ghost in her mind—but it didn't matter. He would win her love . . .

Home, they told of their engagement to their parents and a few of their friends, but Hope insisted that they should not announce it publicly for a while. She preferred, she explained, to be married in the late fall and go to Venice for their honeymoon. With Christmas in Rome, and New Year's in Paris.

Her engagement was officially announced in September, just a few weeks before Judy's wedding was to be performed. And Hope was about with a flashlight on her finger at last, a new diamond brooch at her bosom, and a strange buzzing in her head.

And all would have been well. Very well indeed. Were it not for another newspaper announcement right alongside of her own in the times. Another announcement that caused Hope to go weak with panic, with a painful flash of hot excitement through her blood.

There was a sharpness in Rusty's voice when she called up an hour later and asked Hope to luncheon. There was an unhappy questioning in Rusty's eyes as she sat opposite him, and avoided his direct glance, smiling broadly and chattering continuously. Rusty had seen it in the paper, and Rusty knew she had seen it, and Rusty wondered. Poor Rusty! She mustn't let him be.

Nervously she refused to set a date for her own wedding with Rusty, begging him to wait until Judy's excitement was over and she had time to think. With boundless hope she threw herself into the masterpiece of Judy's wedding to the boy who had cast away his E-flat saxophone and engaged a publicity expert.

Looking Back Upon The Fight to Fame

Gertrude Atherton, Now 74 Years Old, Writes a Frank and Readable Story of Her Long Struggle Against the Conventions Which Almost Kept Her From a Career as a Novelist.

In 1886.

"marriage of convenience" on the insistence of her family, with a wealthy Californian named Thomas Horn, and divorced him after three years. Divorce was not condoned in those days, and Mrs. Horn was ostracized. Later she married again, and that romance terminated when her husband embezzled a sum of money, and was hurriedly packed on board a ship for South America. He lived only a few years longer.

Gertrude was given a conventional—so far as one so unconventional meant something. Here was a new and satisfying way to shock the surrounding universe into a fresh fillip of gossip. Here was work—and the dizzy flavor of success.

The fact that her New York shop and Dickey Dale's musical comedy opened on the same date that autumn, seemed like a good omen to Terrible. She wanted to send a telegram of congratulation to Dickey! Terribly! Terribly! She was responsible if he had heard of her business—or knew of her doing.

Quite calm and radiant, she attended Dickey's opening that night with Rusty Crandall by her side. Attended it and dusted out the last obscure corners of the theater with her keenest glances for some sight of Dickey—or Hick! Went home and cried herself to sleep because she hadn't seen them, because the show was so beautiful, and because it meant Dickey would have a brilliant start with his career.

But shortly after Christmas came the crash to all her hard-earned pose. Just one little item in a newspaper! Just a paragraph no bigger than Sassy's forehead—just a few black words—announcing the engagement of one Eileen Argyle to Richard J. Hickson Dale!

Instead of keeping the clipping, for every word was burned into her thoughts, to haunt her waking or sleeping.

But Hope didn't cry. She didn't even feel like crying. She went down to her New York shop and sent out bloomers without dresses, eight-ounce bottles instead of booties, and confused the entire day's sales with calm and thoughtful inaccuracy.

AND so, merely because of the vacuous pain of the next months in her lonely heart, and because of the realization of one true and remaining devotion that should not lightly be discarded, Hope herself said "yes" one night in June. Yes, she promised Rusty Crandall, and felt like crying at the all-embracing fever of joy and stuttering plans of his faithful, dog-like devotion. Wondering why she couldn't feel stirred at the thoughts of a home for herself as he planned it, at the fact that someone was elaborately scheming for her happiness over the heads of others, she didn't love him! Yes, he knew—she knew Dickey was still a husky ghost in her mind—but it didn't matter. He would win her love . . .

BORN Gertrude Horn, Mrs. Atherton's early life was rather unfortunate, but not actually tragic. Her grandfather, born of a prominent New York family, had gone to New Orleans, made a fortune, and lost it, and then had gone to San Francisco. He prospered moderately, but never overcame the psychological setback of his reverse. Her mother contracted a she could be—education, and on her return home from school in Kentucky, found George Atherton in attendance on her mother. The latter was considerably older than George, who, despite his engagement to the mother, became infatuated with Gertrude. She asserted frankly in her book that she did not care for him, and rejected him five times, but one day while driving they simply went to a priest, and were married.

The bride's family were thoroughly outraged; the Athertons, however, were rather pleased, for Gertrude was of good family, and George had not married a woman older than he. Gertrude was accepted as a member of the Atherton family.

She did not find the Athertons especially congenial, nor did they approve greatly of her. When she became George's male hair, she became a favorite, however—until she gained the children's taste, to make them sick, sick, and lost her position.

She gained no favor either, when she gave a second child a girl, a name of her own choosing.

Drugs

SOME are "agin" and some are for drugs, but those who know most about them have a different attitude.

Some patients actually boast that they never have their prescriptions filled, and proclaim that they are against pills and powders.

Others think that no visit to the doctor is complete or satisfactory unless they have carried away with them that charm-like script, the prescription.

The fact of the matter appears to be that, while the public is buying and consuming more and more drugs, physicians are using a relatively smaller number. But these are being employed with greater fitness.

Fifteen years ago prescriptions contained many drugs. They were called shotgun prescriptions. They were employed on the general conviction that if the number of drugs was sufficiently large, one of them at least would hit the mark.

Pharmacology, the science of drugs, has made great strides during the last half century in studying their effects.

The result has been that inert and ineffective drugs have been eliminated from the official list, and prescription simplified.

Only a few drugs remain. These are the so-called specifics. Most drugs are employed to aid the body in overcoming disease, or in correcting faulty physiology.

Certain drugs are invaluable aids in the treatment of disease, but most of those used by the average person in self-treatment for minor ailments could be profitably replaced by such agents as heat, cold, massage, rest and baths.

There is, therefore, no warrant for the attitude of the drug nihilists, and only a little for that of the drug enthusiast.

Drugs are tools. They have a limited sphere of application, but are very useful in given conditions. They are not without danger when employed by those lacking adequate training and experience.

A CORRECTION

ILYAN TASHMAN, motion picture actress, in an interview in this section of the Post-Dispatch on April 5, erroneously stated that Tudor Wilkinson, formerly of St. Louis, had died in Paris. Wilkinson, who married Dolores, noted Ziegfeld beauty, is living with his wife in Paris. Miss Tashman also was in error when she said that Dolores, "both her husbands having committed suicide," was about to enter a convent.

If you ask My Opinion

By Martha Carr

EAR MRS. CARR: I am in love with a boy 19 years old, who is an only child and somewhat petted and spoiled. He usually gets what he wants. My father won't allow me to see the boy at all. He says the boy is tough. But he is the best and kindest boy I have ever known. He seems like a brother to me and is always ready to protect me in danger. We are thinking of getting married, anyway, but would rather have my father's consent. Should we tell him about it or get married anyway and be happy or go on being lonely? I am deeply depressed.

BLONDIE

I should say, rather, you are deeply impressed. Have the courage to talk to your father and see if he has any definite knowledge against the boy. If he tells you it is something he cannot explain to you, you will know there is something seriously against the boy and it would be safer to take your father's advice. At least ask your father to be as definite as possible.

Marriage to him is selfish and spiritual. It is not one long joy and holiday. It is easy enough to be a cavalier for a short time, but to continue this attitude takes more character (and I may say fortitude) than the average man possesses. I believe you would seriously regret marrying secretly.

GLADYS

EAR MRS. CARR: I have been having trouble with a girl for a year. Lately she has changed. She has become popular at dances and sometimes leaves me flat. I am 18 years old. I have spent a considerable amount of money on her. Should I speak to her about this and try to win her back or do you think she will come back voluntarily?

ANDY D. JR.

I do not believe you could have better plan to lose her for good. She is a girl of any sensitiveness and breeding, that to remind her of the money you have spent on her. Never spend money on a girl unless it is done with the idea of giving her and yourself pleasure. No gentleman would do that and then remind her of the obligation. That is shockingly bad manners and feeling.

WONDERING.

This is a solemness one doesn't often encounter. I think you should just charge it up to ignorance and lack of home training.

WONDERING

EAR MRS. CARR: I would like you to help settle a family argument. My mother, who is a widow, objects to my brothers going out so much—some weeks every night. Neither is making any money at this time. One has his own business and the other lost his position when the company went into bankruptcy. The trouble is, that mother feels they are with the wrong kind of people, since they stay out so very late—3 and 4 a clock in the morning. My brothers have really been self-supporters as such, but always bought their clothes and charged them nothing for room and board. Also she gives each an allowance of considerable size. She can well afford to do this, but I think the allowance is a mistake, especially since one is over 30 years old.

The youngest says he won't have her telling him when to go out and to have to report, just like a child. The boys are considerate of mother in every other way. But since my husband and I live with her and take her anywhere she wants to go, it is not much responsibility to them. My solution is to cut off the allowance.

AWARDING DAUGHTER.

Your solution is probably a good one. But I am afraid your mother has brought this on herself, pretty much. Long ago she should have used her authority and insistence, to keep these boys from becoming the spoiled sons of a well-to-do mother. In fact, before they put on trousers, or at least long trousers. If your mother gave the boys this allowance during the time they were working, they would probably think her very cruel now to cut it off. But for their own good (provided she has the determination to stick to it once she starts) she might just tell them that she had made up her mind she would not be a party to this carelessness.

PARTIES MOVING
ON PROHIBITION

New York Democratic Committee for Repeal of 18th Amendment—Five Other Groups for This or Resubmission.

BUTLER PREDICTS
WET G. O. P. PLANK

Raskob Favors Byrd's Pro posal Which Calls for Constitutional Change to Permit Direct Action by People.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 16.—Activity toward resubmission of the eighteenth amendment is becoming a larger factor in preparations for the national conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties.

The two Wyoming Senators have joined in announcing themselves as desirous of placing the prohibition question before the people. Both Kendrick, Democrat, and Carey, Republican, have dry records.

Former Governor, Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, who this week announced a plan for a popular vote on prohibition, said that as extreme drys, as well as extreme wets, approved it quick action on the necessary constitutional change should be possible. He made this comment after Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Metho Episcopal Church, South, in dorsed it in principle.

Raskob for Plan.
The New York Times quotes John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, as considering the Byrd plan before than his own proposal for an amendment allowing state control of the liquor traffic.

"The plan of former G. V. Byrd," he said, "would give cities a fairer representation in the total vote. As redistricted, most states give the rural sections more representation than their share of the population entitles them to."

The Democratic Committee of New York State, by adopting a res olution for repeal of the eight eenth amendment, increased to six the list of state organizations in the party that have gone on record for repeal or resubmission.
The New York action, said Gov.
Roosevelt, now leading presidential candidate, was in accord with his ideas.

Dr. Butler's Plan.
A prediction that the Repub lican National Convention would go on record for repeal was made in Chicago by Dr. Nicholas Mur ray Butler, who said he would force a roll call on a resolution to that effect and that there would be no "pussyfooting."

Butler said in an interview:
"There will be no pussyfooting or straddling on 'modification.' I in tend to introduce a resolution at the convention calling for repeal and see that it is put to a roll call.
It will be identical with the res olution I introduced at Kansas City in 1928 but which did not get a roll call. It will call for absolute repeal of the eighteenth amend ment, I believe it will be adopted.
A lot of water has gone over the dam since 1928. If any attempt is made to amend or curtail the res olution the delegates are going to vote on that, too, and take the con sequences."

Butler said the prohibition ques tion would be "equally important with the economic question in the impending presidential campaign."

What Byrd Proposes.
Byrd's proposal is to submit an amendment to the Legislature, which, on ratification, would pro vide that future changes in the Constitution be submitted direct to the people by Congress to vote at a date when other elections would be held, the vote to be counted by states, ratification being by three-fourths of the states.

The declaration of the Wyoming Senators was brief: "We are for resubmission of the prohibition question to the people of the se veral states. We are unalterably op posed to a return to the saloon with its attendant evils. We would con sider favorably a plan of Federal control and regulation of the liquor traffic under which the rights of the dry states would be fully pro tected."

Kendrick has voted for every prohibition measure, including the eighteenth amendment. Carey, elected Governor in 1918 on a dry platform, has voted for the prohibition amendment.

'N WOIMS IS TOO NEAR MEAT TO BE TAKIN'
ANY CHANCES.

THEY WON'T
EAT NOODLES.

ALL RIGHT THEN THEY WON'T EAT NOODLES. BUT WHO ARE FISH THAT I SHOULD SIT AROUND
FRYIN' EGGS!

Ella Cinders—By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb

Silent Waters

(Copyright, 1932.)

Footsteps and nearby
Ella and Blackie have trudged miles after miles, with appetites
a mile long,
and not a town in sight....

ELLA—QUICK—
FALLING!

KNOW YOU WERE AN EXPERT SWIMMER.
I'D BE WORRIED ABOUT YOU!

COME ON, NOW—QUIT
PLAYING TRICKS ON ME!

SPLASH!

OH, BLACKIE—
IF YOU'RE TRYING TO BE FUNNY, PLEASE COME UP! I PROMISE I'LL LAUGH—HONEST I WILL!

Ella called but in vain.
Only the treacherous swirls of rising bubbles greeted her pleas. What happened to Blackie? The murky waters of the sluggish stream alone could tell.
